MADAM ROSE—B. J. Sowers' portrayal of Madam Rose in the Roundtown Players production of 'Gypsy' is outstanding. Dress rehearsal for the musical was held Monday and opening night is Wednesday in Memorial Hall.

Roundtown Players have really done it this time! The spectacular display of talent has reached an all-time high in the up-coming performances of "Gypsy." The musical comedy based on the memoirs of burlesque queen, Gypsy Rose Lee, has proffered a host of talents from every realm of the amateur entertainment world.

B. J. Sowers as Rose is the most brilliantly cast character since the original Madame Rose. She lives the part from the miserly woman with a dream to the tragic rejected mother. As she dominates her daughters' lives, she dominates the entire show with her magnetic voice and unshakable stamina.

With a cast of 42 different characters, the performance of "Gypsy" is truly clossal achievement.

The title role is portrayed by Marsha Schneider. All the qualities of the famous lady are present in Marsha's performance as she blossoms from a tomboy to the gorgeous woman of the stage.

Throughout the entire play, the audience will be pleasantly surprised by the antics and unusual talents of the cast. Tulsa, played by Jim Fosnaugh, gives a startling exact dance routine in the first act. The bumps and grinds displayed by Dot Eck, Debbie Chandler and d'Lee Blankenship will keep everyone in stiches as they tell young Gypsy "You Gotta' Have a Gimmick."

Just as in the dialogue, "Once she got started, there was no stopping her," the play moves at clipping pace as one spectacle after another races across the stage.

Lighting and effects were well-engineered. The transition from the children Baby June and Louise to their adult counterparts is created by technical subtlety and the lighting of the Christmas scene has the aura of true professionalism. Mike Alkire and his technical staff are to be commended.

Larry Blum as Herbie held the show and the plot together with his easy-going steadfastness. As his mellow voice combines with B. J.'s and Marsha's we see yet another side of his versatility.

Once again the musical end of the show was left to the unquestionable genius of Clara Teggardin. She does a marvelous job with the talents of local musicians and students from Circleville High School as well as several from Chillicothe. As you sit in the audience, you will be amazed at their virtuosity.

Directed by Dick Davis, the staging of "Gypsy" has taken a monumental amount of work, talent and perseverance to become the true extravaganza it is. Technical director is Mike Alkire and choreographer, Judy Vavrock.

This production has made use of several talents from the small fry. A large number of the roles throughout the play are portrayed by young people of the community.

From the flamboyant beginning to the breathtaking finale, the Roundtown Players' "Gypsy" is truly worth seeing. The production will open Wednesday night and run through Saturday with a special matinee at 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

Light Vote Expected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Only one of four statewide issues appeared in doubt today as Ohioans headed for the polls in an off-year election expected to attract only a light turn-out.

Issue Three, which would allow in-term pay raises for municipal and county court judges, was rated the only tossup among the four issues. A similar proposal failed in May.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has estimated 2.9 million Ohioans will vote. He revised the figure downward after Democrat James Carney withdrew from the Cleveland mayor's race.

There will be 127 bond issues, 211 questions and 893 tax levies facing local voters throughout the state. Cleveland, Toledo and Youngstown will be electing mayors.

The top attraction statewide appeared to be Issue One, which would provide a constitutional amendment requiring that farmland be taxed at its current use, rather than its market value.

Proponents of the issue contend taxing farmland at market value would drive many farms out of business if they are located near urban areas where land values may be higher.

The proposal allowing in-term pay raises for municipal and county judges would make the courts a division of common pleas courts, thus permitting the pay raises.

In addition, it would permit small counties to jointly establish a common pleas court district. Currently each county has at least one such court.

The proposal corrects a deficiency in the Modern Courts Amendment of 1968. Lawmakers inadvertently wrote it in such a way to keep lower court judges from the interim pay raises, while giving the privilege to higher court judges.

Issue Two would lift the $3,000 lid on exemptions from the state income tax.

Proponents of the change contend the lid hurts large families.

Issue Four would provide a maximum $500 bonus for Vietnam War veterans and military personnel on active duty during the war period. It would be financed by a $300 million bond issue, to be paid off in 15 years.

Politicians are closely watching scattered off-year elections today for a clue to the impact of Watergate. They may not learn much.

Today's elections, headlined by gubernatorial races in New Jersey and Virginia and a mayoral contest in New York City, represent the first national sampling of voter sentiment since the eruption of White House scandals and is being viewed as a possible preview of 1974.

Since the 1972 voting, in which President Nixon buried Democrat George McGovern but failed to ruffle Democratic control of Congress and statehouses across the country, the nation has witnessed some of the most serious political scandal of its history.

But in the meantime, Republican party Chairman George Bush has been leading his party in a campaign to disassociate itself from the White House crisis, arguing that guilty individuals in the Nixon official family should bear the blame, rather than innocent members of the party.

There are signs that Bush's work is paying off as financial contributions to the party are picking up again after a severe downturn earlier in the year.

So, the eyes of the political profession turn to today's broader testing with the assumption on the part of some that it will tell how much Watergate is going to hurt the party of the President. It probably is too much to ask.

The spotlight turns first to New Jersey where Democrat Brendan T. Byrne is expected to win a governorship captured by the Republicans in 1969. But this hardly looks like a Watergate bellweather.

Byrne, a 49-year-old former judge, faces conservative Republican Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr., 52. Sandman beat GOP Gov. William Cahill in a June primary that left the party deeply split. A Democratic victory would appear probable in such circumstances even without Watergate.

In Virginia, GOP control of the governor's mansion is considered in possible jeopardy. But the Democrats don't even have a nominee on the ballot. The Republican nominee is former Democratic Gov. Mills E. Goodwin Jr., 58. His opponent is Lt. Gov. Henry E. Howell Jr., 53, a Democrat running as an independent.

In New York City Democrat Abraham D. Beame, 67, is expected to win promotion from city comptroller to mayor, succeeding John V. Lindsay, who won the job eight years ago as a Republican, was re-elected as the Liberal party nominee and then joined the Democrats.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Public Utilities Commission's emergency fuel center has been inundated with calls for assistance, mainly from northeastern Ohioans, chairman Edmund J. Turk said Monday.

Jaworski Link To CIA Funds Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of a Houston foundation says special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski once approved use of the foundation to launder money for the Central Intelligence Agency.

Jaworski declined on Monday to answer a list of written questions about the matter. He issued a terse denial through his office, but was quoted by a Houston newspaper as acknowledging that he may have had some role in the conduit arrangement.

John Freeman, president of the Houston-based M.D. Anderson Foundation, said Jaworski voted with him and the group's other two directors to approve a request by a CIA representative to pass money to an international lawyer's group.

Freeman, who was one of Jaworski's law partners, said the foundation forwarded more than $600,000 at the CIA's request to the American Fund for Free Jurists Inc.

Freeman said the arrangement continued for several years until it was exposed in 1967 along with a bevy of secret CIA subsidies to supposedly independent groups including the National Student Association.

Freeman, in a telephone interview, said he sees nothing wrong with the arrangement, and described it as being "in furtherance of law and order throughout the free world."

Watergate Hearings In New Phase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate committee is opening a new phase in its hearings and at the same time is considering a new approach in its attempts to question President Nixon face-to-face.

Suggested by Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., the plan calls for all seven committee members to interrogate Nixon in the White House or at any place and time of his choosing. The President would not be placed under oath but a transcript of the session would be made public.

The committee scheduled a vote on the proposal for today, after which the new phase of the hearings would begin.

Weicker said last week that a majority of the committee appeared to favor his idea. There was no indication it would be acceptable to the President.

Meanwhile, the committee's Republican minority made public a long-awaited list of four persons to be called to testify on so-called dirty tricks alleged to have been used by Democrats in last year's political campaign.

The names of three other witnesses related to the committee's investigation into campaign financing in last year's presidential election also were released.

The Republican witness list included the names of Rep. Tim Lee Carter, R-Ky., and Boston police officer Jeremiah O'Leary.

The others were identified as Mike Heller of Los Angeles, who is said to have information about the distribution of anti-Nixon leaflets, and Truman Campbell, the county Republican chairman in Fresno, Calif.

It was not known who would testify first.

Campbell was reported ready to testify about alleged payments of McGovern campaign funds to members of the United Farm Workers union headed by Cesar Chavez.

He also was expected to testify on the disruption of a rally for President Nixon in Fresno last year.

Two of the three witnesses in the campaign financing area are Mexican-Americans who work or worked inside the Nixon administration.

The committee reportedly is exploring the relationship between the Nixon campaign's political overtures to Spanish-speaking voters and an alleged pre-election surge in government contracts to members of that group.

The campaign witness list includes William Marumoto, a former special assistant to the President who headed a White House task force pushing programs of interest to Spanish-speaking Americans. Marumoto also recruited candidates for presidential appointments to high-level government jobs.

Also on the list is Ben Fernandez, a millionaire economist and financier who is a candidate for lieutenant governor of California.

During the campaign Fernandez headed the Hispanic Finance Committee for the Committee for the Re-election of the President.

Senate Panel Wraps Up Ford Nomination Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — After only two days of televised testimony, the Senate Rules Committee appears almost ready to wrap up public hearings on the nomination of Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford.

Chairman Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., said the committee will meet in closed session Wednesday to hear Robert N. Winter-Berger, a former lobbyist who has made a series of allegations against Ford, and from Dr. Arnold Hutschnecker, a New York psychiatrist.

Beyond that, Cannon said, the committee has been contacted by only one witness — Rep. Donald M. Fraser, D-Minn., chairman of Americans for Democratic Action — who wants to testify against Ford.

Cannon was asked Monday night by Martin Agronsky on the Public Broadcasting Television Network's "Evening Edition" program whether he thought Ford had shown in the hearings he is qualified to hold the presidency.

"Based on what we know now, I would believe that Ford would make a good president for the next three years if he were thrust into that position," Cannon replied.

He emphasized that he disagrees with Ford's views on a number of issues but said he expected President Nixon to choose someone with whom he was philosophically compatible.

Cannon said it was possible the committee could end its investigation of Ford next week, sending the nomination to the Senate floor soon afterward.

The House Judiciary Committee has set Nov. 13 as the tentative starting date for hearings, indicating Ford could be installed as vice president before Thanksgiving Day.

The Rules Committee's Monday afternoon session heard statements from 10 House members endorsing Ford, a House member from Michigan for 25 years and House Republican leader for eight.

The endorsements ranged from that of Rep. John Ashbrook, R-Ohio, who sought the Republican presidential nomination in 1972 as a hard-line conservative, to that of Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, R-Calif., who for a time ran for the presidency as an antiwar candidate.

In closing out his testimony before the committee, Ford said he does not share President Nixon's reputed animosity toward the press; called himself an internationalist where foreign policy is concerned; said he thinks Nixon is completely innocent of wrongdoing in the Watergate break-in and cover-up, and said he thinks Nixon can save his presidency.

Ford decried the fact that the Watergate case — "the illegal acts of a handful of people" — should cause Americans to forget the President's record.

He described a president's most important role as striving for equity and prosperity at home and abroad.

Letters Against Nixon Inspired By Political Hate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another conservative Republican senator has attacked President Nixon's handling of the Watergate affair while two others said most of their anti-Nixon mail is inspired by the President's enemies.

Sen. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., advised Republicans to declare political independence of the Nixon White House and said the party must cooperate in beginning impeachment proceedings to establish the President's innocence or guilt.

Dominick and Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott called on Nixon to make a complete disclosure of all tapes and documents relating to the Watergate investigations.

Last week, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said public confidence in Nixon is so low that his only hope of escape is to appear voluntarily before the Senate Watergate committee and testify under oath.

However, speaking Monday in Logan, Utah, Goldwater said that Nixon should not resign. "Nothing that has gone on so far makes me think that he should," Goldwater said.

Goldwater said also that he opposes impeachment. "If, however, they can prove that he was dishonest, he should be impeached."

The committee is set to vote on a proposal by Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., who suggested the panel tell the President it is willing to meet him privately at the White House, question him without placing him under oath, and make the transcript of the session public.

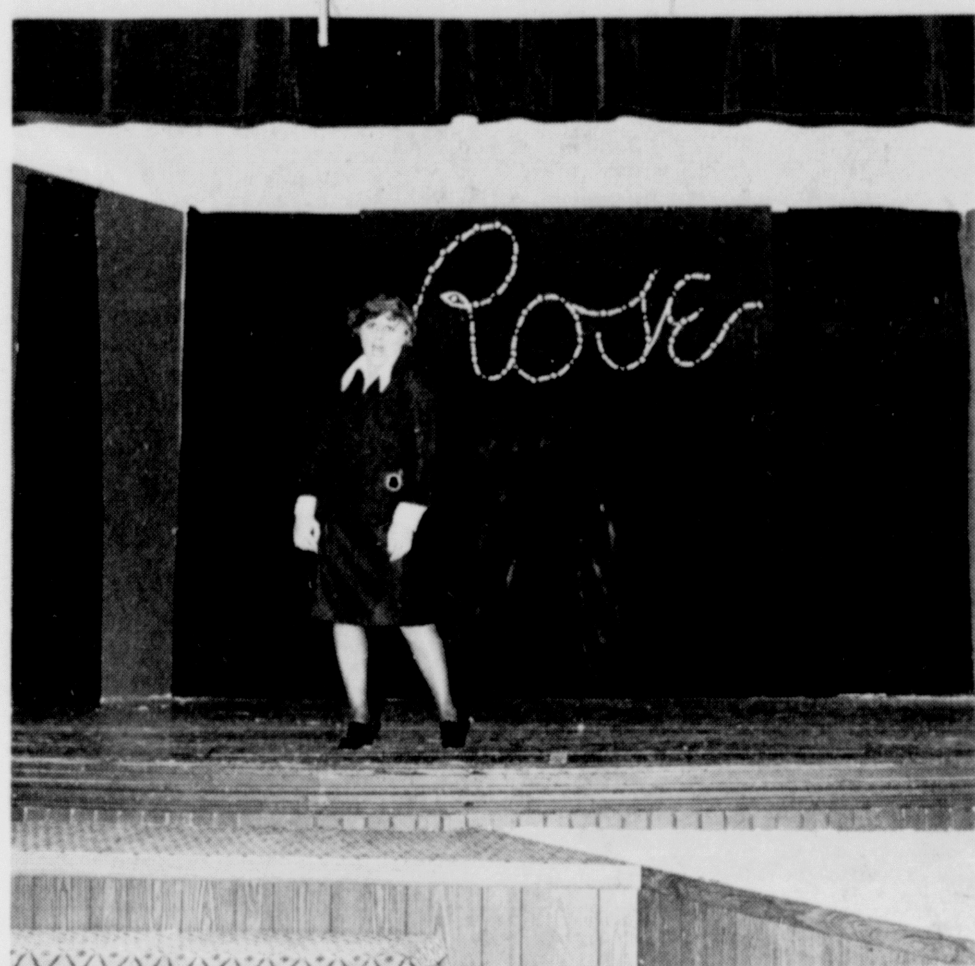

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., has suggested Nixon resign but Scott rejected that idea.

The mail of most members of Congress has been running heavily against the President. Two senators said they believe it is politically inspired.

Sens. William L. Scott, R-Va., and Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., said they believe most of their anti-Nixon mail is coming from supporters of Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., or is inspired by such groups as the AFL-CIO, Common Cause and the American Civil Liberties Union. All three groups have called for Nixon's resignation or impeachment.

The Virginia Republican said a spot check with the writers of 1,000 anti-Nixon communications received by his office showed 77 per cent had voted for McGovern in the 1972 presidential election.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices were higher today in bargain hunting after six days of dramatic losses. But analysts said they believed the rally would be very short-lived.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 6.02 at 925.42, but it had been up more than 10 points earlier. The blue-chip indicator lost more than 65 points in the six previous sessions.

Advancing Big Board issues held a 743-to-444 lead over declines in moderate volume.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was up 1.12 at 105.23.

Analysts said Watergate-related events, the Mideast crisis, oil shortages, and high interest rates were taking the buyers out of the market.

General Motors, up 1 1/2 at 61 1/2, was the Big Board volume leader.

The Big Board's broad-based index of some 1,500 common stocks was up .24 at 56.95.

The Amex volume leader was American Recreation up 5/8 at 4 1/8.

Fuel Allocations Cut For Logan Elm Schools

Included in the general business of the Logan Elm Board of Education at their regular monthly meeting Monday night was the request for an advance draw on the personal property settlement. A total of $300,000 was requested to repay the outstanding loan and to meet the pay roll.

The board accepted three resignations and approved four employments. Marion Grate resigned as study hall monitor at the junior high and Edna Law as cook at McDowell Exchange School. Also resigning was Vera Kraft as a teacher aide at Washington.

Edna Law was employed in the capacity of teacher aide and Virginia Lloyd was appointed to fill the vacant cook's position. Hired as substitute bus drivers were Linda Speakman and James Woollever.

The Federal Mandatory Middle Distillate Fuel Allocation Program has made a change in the monthly allocation of fuel oil to the school system. From now on the allocation will be decreased to 75 per cent of the amount allocated last year.

Superintendent John Henn has resolved to try to get additional supplies through the federal office in Chicago. The Chicago office is the nearest government facility in this region.

Pickaway County Commissioners Monday signed the contract with General Masonry Contractors of Marion for repair of Memorial Hall roof.

Work on the project will begin Thursday. The project includes replacing the present slate roof with a modern roofing, repair of masonry near the roof.

They also signed the contract for replacing the jail windows on the first and second floors of the Pickaway County Jail. The project is in two phases with state matching funds paying for phase 1 and federal revenue sharing funds for phase two. William Bayley Co. of Springfield was successful bidder in the amount of $27,900 for the project. The new jail windows will improve ventilation in the jail, as frequently requested by Pickaway County Grand Juries.

The purchase of a truck from Wes Edstrom Motors for the humane officer was approved. Edstrom submitted the only bid and it was in the amount of $3,144 with trade-in of a 1969 dodge. A camper top for the pickup truck bed will be purchased from Tagg Trailer.

Charles Smith, Maplewood Ave., was given the contract for improving the parking lot where the old Campbell home was located.

Animal claims were paid to Rex Hall, Ashville, in the amount of $135 for three sheep, and Floyd Reid,

A favorable report from the School Food Service Inspection stated that the cafeteria operation in the Logan Elm District was being carried out in an excellent manner.

The board discusses money-making projects of students and concluded that some controls are needed in this area. The discussion was tabled with the decision to get the teachers involved in discussing the needed controls.

General admissions standards as submitted by the Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational School were adopted. The course of study as proposed by the vocational school was accepted.

Students will be required to complete the tenth grade at Logan Elm High School before being accepted at the vocational school. Other requirements are an accumulation of seven high school credits. The two-year program offered at Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational School will complete the requirements for a diploma from Logan Elm High School.

Meeting with the board to discuss busing routes were the Saltcreek Township trustees. They resolved to continue the meeting at a later date.

Board members Donald Bower, Roger Hobbie, Carolyn McCoy, Charles Jones and Virginia Cooys were all present along with local superintendent John Henn.

A camper top for the pickup truck bed will be purchased from Tagg Trailer. Charles Smith, Maplewood Ave., was given the contract for improving the parking lot where the old Campbell home was located.

Animal claims were paid to Rex Hall, Ashville, in the amount of $135 for three sheep, and Floyd Reid,

A favorable report from the School Food Service Inspection stated that the cafeteria operation in the Logan Elm District was being carried out in an excellent manner.

The board discusses money-making projects of students and concluded that some controls are needed in this area. The discussion was tabled with the decision to get the teachers involved in discussing the needed controls.

General admissions standards as submitted by the Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational School were adopted. The course of study as proposed by the vocational school was accepted.

Students will be required to complete the tenth grade at Logan Elm High School before being accepted at the vocational school. Other requirements are an accumulation of seven high school credits. The two-year program offered at Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational School will complete the requirements for a diploma from Logan Elm High School.

Meeting with the board to discuss busing routes were the Saltcreek Township trustees. They resolved to continue the meeting at a later date.

Board members Donald Bower, Roger Hobbie, Carolyn McCoy, Charles Jones and Virginia Woods were all present along with local superintendent John Henn.

Laurelville, $40 for one sheep. Commissioners Wayne Hines, L. Robert Liston and Dick Tootle were present.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Career Turns Fiancee Into Beast

DEAR ABBY: My fiance, a talented young man, plays the guitar in a small group, which up until now played only for their own enjoyment. I have told him repeatedly that I didn't want him to play for the public, whether it be a concert, reception, or dance. He always assured me he wouldn't. Now the group is getting offers, and he wants to play professionally. Maybe I sound selfish, but I want my husband home nights, so our children will know their father. Most musicians are gone nights and weekends, and have to play in Lord knows what kind of places.

I don't want to force him to make a choice between me or his music because I know how much he loves his music. Yet, I could never be happy as a musician's wife, no matter how successful he became.

I know many girls would be thrilled to have their husbands up on a stage, but I'm different.

STAGE FRIGHT IN WACO
DEAR STAGE FRIGHT: There can be no compromise here. If your fiance loves music, and wants to make it his career, you are forcing him to make a choice.

No man is as miserable as he who sacrifices doing what he wants most to do in order to please his wife. Unless he's the man who does what he wants to do, and has a nagging wife at his elbow reminding him of how miserable SHE is.

DEAR ABBY: In answer to the girl who thought she was getting too much attention from her father in law: She doesn't know how lucky she is. I once had the same problem, or thought I did. Then my husband died at an early age, and my father in law expressed his love for me. To make a long story short, I married my father in law. I was 30, and he was 60. We have had a wonderful life together and are still in good health. I am now 60, and he is 90.

So, don't put down the father in law. Chances are he is a lot like his son, only older.

HAPPY WITH PAPPY

DEAR HAPPY: You don't say where your mother-in-law was when father in law "expressed his love for you," but if she was alive and kicking, shame on Pappy for having traded his old model for a newer one.

DEAR ABBY: You mentioned that occasionally couples want to be married by a clergyman, but can't find one to marry them because it's a "mixed" marriage.

May I suggest that you refer them to the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (Mormon.)

The LDS marriage ceremony is simple, but impressive, and would be performed by an ordained minister recognized by city and state authority. As you know, we have no paid clergy. Our church is run by volunteers.

Since I became a bishop (this last year), I have performed two marriage ceremonies for non-members. The first was between a Catholic and a Lutheran, and the second between a Catholic and a Baptist. The church organist played the music and the room where it was held was appropriately decorated. The young couple seemed to like it very much, and you couldn't beat the price. There was no charge.

Rail Car Shortage Hurts Nation

NEW YORK (AP) — Record freight shipments, spurred by a booming economy and a sharp rise in grain exports, have put a severe strain on the nation's railway freight system, causing some critical car shortages.

While the problem apparently has had no major impact so far on consumers, a number of manufacturers report difficulties in obtaining enough freight cars. Some have been switched to trucks.

Government figures indicate the current shortage involves some 33,000 cars a day, less than 2 per cent of the nation's 1.7 million car fleet but still a significant number.

While all types of freight cars are affected, among the hardest hit are covered hoppers used for transporting grain. Large wheat deals with the Soviet Union and other countries have greatly boosted grain shipments, which are currently running about 32 per cent above last year's levels.

"The worst car shortage in the nation's history came earlier this year with the movement of Russian wheat. Now with new bumper crops it looks like we are on the brink of it again," said a spokesman for the Interstate Commerce Commission.

To meet the crush, railroads have been forced to assign livestock cars and open-topped coal hoppers to grain shippers, causing car shortages elsewhere down the line.

"They used everything possible, even regular boxcars normally used for appliances and furniture," said Bill Goldstein, general manager of the Chicago Shippers Association, a nationwide group which handles bulk shipping for large retail chains. "Still the situation was critical."

Some observers blame part of the problem on the financial conditions of some of the railroads, which prevents them from buying enough new cars. However, the Association of American Railroads, a trade group, says that orders for new and rebuilt cars in the first eight months are more than double 1972 levels.

"Adding more cars to the nation's fleet isn't the total answer," said a spokesman for Burlington Northern. "The whole transportation pipeline is not geared to handle the tremendous amounts of grain we have been pushing into it in the last 15 months."

Grain is only part of the problem.

Because of the strong economy, total freight shipments this year are so far running about 9 per cent ahead of last year's records.

Burlington Northern, for example, says it is short on virtually all kinds of cars, while the Penn Central and Chessie System acknowledge a shortage of cars used for shipping steel.

A spokesman for Ford Motor Co. said, "We have been experiencing a shortage of rail cars for the past year. As a result, we've had to turn to other forms of transportation, mainly trucks, and pay a premium for this."

And R.J. Breiting, traffic and transportation director for Westinghouse Electric, said: "We're being affected, but we're not missing any shipments. We just have to spend a great deal of time finding rail cars to ship with."

High Court Backs Cincinnati Man

WASHINGTON (AP) — Simply voicing a "non-provocative" objection to a questionable arrest is not a crime, the Supreme Court said today in an unsigned opinion.

The court summarily reversed the conviction of a Cincinnati man who was charged with disorderly conduct after being stopped by police on Christmas night, 1971.

Edward Norwell, 69, the owner of a small package liquor store, was stopped by police while walking home from his business.

Dredging Regulations Hurt Ports

FAIRPORT, Ohio (AP)—New U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' dredging requirements may threaten the future of small Lake Erie ports here and in Ashtabula and Sandusky, according to harbor officials.

The Corps ruled earlier this year that it would not dredge the harbors next year unless they designate specific, diked areas for disposal of the dredged material from the harbor bottoms.

The disposal sites are an environmental move, designed to halt the pollution of the lake from continued deposit of harbor dredgings in open, offshore areas.

But without dredging, silt could fill the harbors in and prevent docking by deep draft vessels.

"It would mean the end of the port within a year or two," Fairport Port Authority Chairman Brookes Hill says flatly.

Others are not as pessimistic, including Fairport Mayor Delbert H. Lintale, who thinks it would be some time before only shallow draft vessels could use the port.

Lintale noted that the problem is primarily economic. Although the diked disposal sites are eligible for 75 per cent federal aid, Fairport's share of a $5 million site still would run to $1.25 million. And estimates of the total cost run to $12 million.

Urge Change In Burley Quota Law

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Representatives of burley tobacco growers say support is increasing for a change in present state law that would allow the lease and transfer of burley quotas across county lines.

While no official effort for a change in the law has been initiated, warehousemen and grower organization officials say the change is gaining support.

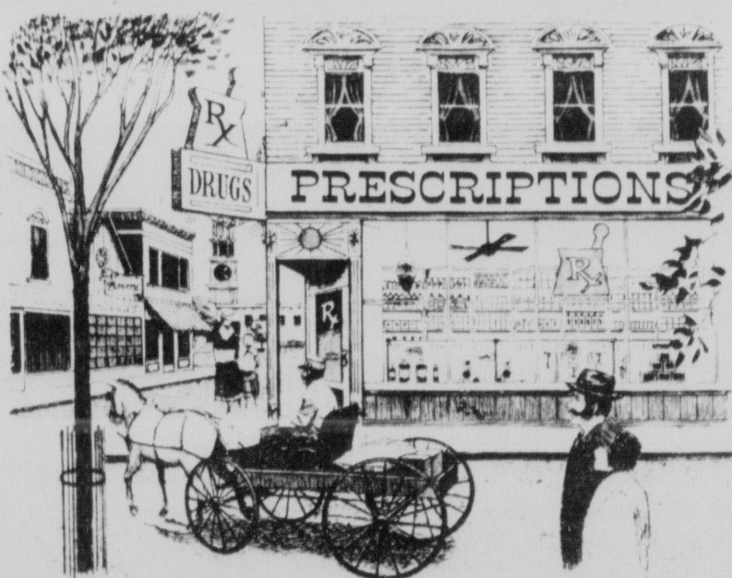

"There's a change in attitude of people," said Albert Clay, a Mount Sterling warehouseman. "And the reason is that suddenly they're realizing that the tobacco is not being grown."

Proponents of the broader leasing provision note that consolidating quotas would allow the crop to be grown in larger units, reducing production costs. Opponents fear that local economies would be adversely affected, contending the result of permitting quota leasing would be concentration of tobacco production in two or three areas of the state.

Burley quotas presently can be leased from one farm and grown on another only within county lines under a 1971 state law.

FDA Not Qualified

In ordering bakeries to double the iron content of their white loaves of bread, the Food and Drug Administration is entering a dangerous phase of its broad powers relating to consumer health and market choice. The intentions behind the unusual FDA move may be laudatory, but the method of implementing them is another step into the arena of Big Brotherism.

Behind the FDA order, which is to take effect in six months, are claims that segments of the American public are suffering from iron deficiency, partly due to declining use of iron cookware. FDA Commissioner Dr. Alexander Schmidt explained the purpose of the controversial order this way: "As people's eating habits change, a significant number of people in the United States are getting less and less iron and becoming anemic. Some very good surveys have shown that as many as a quarter of young women in some areas have iron deficiency anemia. . ."

As many as a quarter of young women in some areas. That leaves many people in many areas not so afflicted. But all will be receiving extra iron dosages anyway, if they eat white bread. If there was no evidence of health problems resulting from too much iron in the diet, the controversy would be less troublesome.

But Dr. William H. Crosby, chief of hematology at the Scripps Clinic in La Jolla, Calif., among others, calls the FDA action "unconscionable." Crosby says too much iron in the diet can cause cirrhosis of the liver and pancreas, diabetes, heart failure and male impotence.

Dr. Schmidt also acknowledged the "legitimate concern" of physicians who fought the proposal because of the human body's ability to store and use iron but not eliminate it. Nevertheless the order has been issued. That leaves the consumer who is not deficient in iron with the choice of intaking a possible surplus of iron, cutting down or eliminating white bread from his diet or baking his own—if he can find flour which has not been treated with the additive.

That is not an acceptable selection of alternatives, especially when the benefits apply to only a small segment of the population, a number of eminent physicians have testified against the proposal on health grounds, and no evidence is possible at this point to demonstrate what the effect will be on the population as a whole by doubling iron intake from one of the primary food staples.

The FDA is hardly competent to play the role of family physician.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I know that adults can sometimes be considered prone to accidents. Does this apply to children as well? One of our three boys is in no more mischief than the others, but somehow he is always involved in some severe injury to his body.

Mrs. S.S., R.I.

Dear Mrs. S.: A great many studies have repeatedly shown that some children have a predisposition to accidents and injuries. At the turn of the century, Sigmund Freud first made the observation that accidents that seem to occur by chance were truly motivated by some subconscious driving force.

It has been speculated that these children demonstrate their need for love, affection, and concern by tottering on the brink of destruction. It is important that children with such tendencies by tested by psychologists to uncover the emotional basis for their problems.

It is important, too, to study their muscular coordination and reflexes to rule out some inability to quickly defend themselves against accident-producing situations.

The complexities of the relationship between parents and their children are varied and great. It is virtually impossible for parents themselves to define the problem and eradicate it.

Many parents who would not waste a moment if the doctor suggested an X-ray of the chest or blood studies, delay by months inquiring into the psychological reasons for accident-proneness in their children.

This particular topic was exceedingly well portrayed in a new book by Dr. Milton I. Levine and Jean H. Seligman. "The Parents Encyclopedia" (Crowell) is a single-volume comprehensive work about the physical and emotional problems of infancy, childhood, and adolescence. Few books have ever as well filled such an important need for the better understanding of the growing child.

A child in our daughter's grade school came down with diphtheria. It was found that the child did not have the vaccine against it. Shouldn't there be a law that makes this vaccination necessary?

Mrs. P.W., Tex.

Dear Mrs. W.:

This severe, dangerous, and contagious disease has been virtually wiped out by proper immunization. Only those of us who remember the ghastly experiences in contagious disease hospitals where children die daily from diphtheria, polio, and scarlet fever can really appreciate the magnificence of modern medicine.

There are still some people who, for strange reasons, deprive their children of these vaccines. There are indeed laws that insist on vaccination for the protection of the child and those who surround him.

NEW YORK (AP) — Realizing it must do more to regain public confidence, the investment community is seeking to insure customer assets against loss in brokerage house failures for far more than the existing $50,000 of protection.

Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith and Dean Witter & Co. now provide $250,000 insurance on customers' securities left in their care, in addition to that provided by the Securities Investor Protection Corp.

The total of $300,000 is more protection against failure than is offered by other financial services, specifically banking and insurance, a Merrill Lynch spokesman noted.

The insurance plans are intended as an inducement to customers to leave securities with their broker instead of keeping them in safe deposit boxes, a procedure that sometimes delays transactions and results in losses.

James Needham, New York Stock Exchange chairman, indicated at a news conference in Houston last week that he was seeking to persuade commercial insurers to offer other brokers somewhat similar policies.

The only insurer in the market so far is Aetna Life & Casualty, and it is significant that its first customers, Merrill Lynch and Witter, are in positions to boast of financial strength.

Questions exist among insurers and brokers as to how extensively Aetna is willing or able to cover weaker members of the brokerage community.

An Aetna spokesman said simply that "we hope to sell more," but he made clear that each firm would be considered individually and would be subject to intensive scrutiny of its financial condition.

Unless the securities industry is able to obtain blanket policies covering many firms, the existing instability conceivably might be worsened by the inability of weaker firms to obtain separate policies.

Least eligible, for example, are those that probably need the insurance most. That could further erode customer confidence and result in defections to highly insured, financially strong firms.

Existing protection against losses in liquidations is limited to a maximum of $50,000 for each customer, except that in claims for cash, as distinct from securities, no more than $20,000 may be paid with SIPC funds.

In a liquidation, the customer's securities are returned to him, if available, by SIPC, the nonprofit, government-industry protection corporation. Next, the firm's assets are distributed.

If these funds prove insufficient, the protection corporation uses its funds up to the $20,000-$50,000 limitation. Thereafter, any reimbursement would be from the company's commercial policy, if there were one.

The two that exist cover only securities — not cash — left in the broker's care. A Merrill Lynch spokesman said that, with high interest rate available, few customers are likely to leave large amounts of cash with brokers.

In an Oct. 11 announcement of its insurance plan, the industry's first, Merrill Lynch noted that "many investors have been overly fearful of entering the marketplace" because of concern over financial conditions.

Broker liquidations have been numerous in the past five years. The protection corporation had 87 liquidations on its books at midyear, including one Big Board firm, Weis Securities.

The NYSE has 50 members on a so-called early warning list because of weak capital-to-debt ratio, but Needham told newsmen in Houston that none could be listed as critical. Nine were in that condition last June.

Quilter Is Running

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—State Rep. Barney Quilter, D-47 Toledo says he may be named to fill U. S. Sen. William R. Saxbe's seat, should Saxbe resign to become attorney general.

Quilter, the majority floor leader in the House, said Monday Gov. John J. Gilligan has received numerous letters urging his appointment to the post.

An aide to the governor said many candidates are under consideration as Saxbe's successor, but that no one will be named until Saxbe is confirmed to the federal job.

Another Disaster?

By JEFFREY HART

In a strange way, Spiro Agnew left behind him a kind of slow-acting poison that may prove fatal to the political fortunes of President Nixon.

At his recent press conference, Mr. Nixon tried to compare his present difficulties with the uproar that surrounded him after his "Christmas bombing" of Hanoi and Haiphong in 1972. He would be fortunate indeed if the cases were similar. Then his assailants consisted of his old and familiar enemies in the media, the academy and the liberal establishment — and despite all the criticism, Nixon's standing rose in the polls even as the bombs were falling.

Today Nixon's enemies are after him, as usual, but now even his supporters are divided and demoralized, he stands at an all-time low in the polls, and almost half the people across the country want him impeached. Mr. Nixon may succeed in riding the whirlwind and directing the storm, but he is doing it with reduced, even minimal support.

Those who remain firmly in Nixon's corner point out that not a single illegal act has been proved against the President and that talk of impeachment is therefore absurd and dangerous. All that has happened, they say, is that from John Dean through San Clemente and the Bebe Rebozo $100,000 Nixon has been inundated with unproved allegations, one following upon another, and too quickly to be answered, and all of them amplified by the media.

But among the erstwhile Nixon supporters who now appear to be shaken, it was the firing of Archibald Cox that was the precipitating event, and here is where the Agnew poison may be working. Entirely apart from the Watergate break-in, about which the celebrated tapes ought to provide some illumination, Mr. Nixon has been charged with a variety of illegalities and improprieties: the ITT anti-trust case fix, the purchasing and refurbishing of San Clemente and Key Biscayne, the dairy price-rise fix, chicanery involving the Russian wheat sale, the Rebozo $100,000, income tax, and so on. Mr. Nixon has denied all guilt, and he may well be innocent.

Charges, after all, are easy to make.

But Mr. Nixon's firmest supporters in the political community were, a few weeks ago, also Mr. Agnew's. They believed Agnew when he said the charges against him were "damned lies," and now they feel like suckers.

One Agnew staff writer, who considered himself a friend of the Vice President, this fall turned down an academic post when Agnew assured him, face to face, that he was innocent and would fight to the end to prove it. At that moment, Agnew's attorneys were plea-bargaining. Many others, though less directly, have had the same experience with Agnew.

Nixon's protestations of innocence simply have much less credibility today than they would have had pre-Agnew. The dismissal of prosecutor Cox brought all these doubts to the surface: Was Cox about to turn Nixon into another Agnew?

If Nixon is destroyed politically and forced from office, though innocent, or if he is guilty, either way it will be another national calamity.

Even if it turns out that Nixon, like Agnew, has feet of clay, it will still be true that he also has great talents of a kind especially valuable to the nation at this moment in history. He is a tough and shrewd negotiator. He saw a way to gain some leverage out of the Chinese-Soviet split, he eased the U.S. out of a combat role in Vietnam without sacrificing an ally, he has involved the Soviets in possible economic dependency, and he may be able to bring off a Middle Eastern settlement. But all of these skills might now be lost to us.

Julie Eisenhower Fights For Father's Credibility

WASHINGTON (AP) — Julie Nixon Eisenhower is angry and fighting back.

About attacks on her father's credibility ... speculation by some that he ordered U.S. forces on world-wide alert to divert attention from Watergate troubles ... disbelief by some that two of the Watergate tapes don't exist ... allegations about Nixon's friends ... questioning of family finances.

These charges are "great tests of character and perseverance. But he's not going to let them get him down," Julie said.

On the day the alert was announced, Thursday, Oct. 25, she wrote in her appointment calendar, "Fight. Fight. Fight."

"That was really the day I decided," Julie said. "That angered me so much ... Looking back on it now, it looks ridiculous, but that's exactly how I felt. I'm not going to sit by anymore."

And so Julie intensified her public defense of her father.

In an hour-long interview in the family's private White House quarters, Julie insisted that her father will not resign, that he has done nothing to warrant impeachment, that his health is excellent and that there's nothing irregular about the family's finances.

Sitting on a soft, daffodil-yellow sofa in the Solarium that the Nixons call their "California Room," 25-year-old Julie portrayed her father as a man more philosophical in recent weeks, thoughtful and gentle at home — yet still angry and frustrated that White House credibility is being challenged.

The President of the United States, she said, often sits at the piano alone at night, sometimes making up his own soft, melodic tunes, sometimes playing "Rustle of Springtime," his mother's favorite piece, to no one but himself. "Sometimes, all alone at night, you'll hear this music in the hallway," Julie said. "I could sometimes hear the piano going, and I knew no one was in that darkened hall, and he'd play."

Say Saxbe
Urged Tapes
Be Destroyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William B. Saxbe, whom President Nixon has nominated as attorney general, has been quoted as advocating in August the destruction of Watergate tapes "if they're incriminating," the Washington Post reported Monday.

The newspaper said the Ohio senator was quoted Aug. 23 by the Hong Kong Standard in a speech to the local chapter of the American Chamber of Commerce in Hong Kong.

Saxbe was unavailable for comment. A spokesman for the Ohio Republican said Sunday, "He doesn't remember making any statement to that effect."

According to the newspaper: A transcript, prepared by a Standard newsman from a tape recording of Saxbe's remarks, quoted Saxbe: "I think the President is right on standing on his rights not to disclose the tapes."

"I personally wish I had never heard of the tapes and, unless they're incriminating, I think he should give them up. If they're incriminating, they should be destroyed and I'm sure he will."

Hong Kong Chamber President Herbert Minich, having read Chang's transcript, said it appeared to be accurate, the Post said.

Under Fire

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Bob Woodward, who shared a Pulitzer Prize for a series of Washington Post articles detailing the Watergate affair, has hurled a barb at the White House press corps.

Woodward, co-author of the investigative reports with Carl Bernstein, called White House newsmen "no more than sophisticated stenographers" with "an obscene affection for the official version of events."

"The Watergate has demonstrated that they were being lied to. And so these reporters have adopted what I would only characterize as a superficial toughness. They go to press conferences and think they're being great investigators by asking the President questions like, 'Don't you think you should resign?'" Woodward said.

He spoke Sunday to members of the Liberal party of the Yale Political Union.

During Ohio Season

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some 5,000 hunters killed 216 deer during Ohio's fifth annual primitive weapons hunt, the Department of Natural Resources said Monday.

Dan C. Armbruster, chief of the division of wildlife, said the hunters used muzzle-loading rifles, muzzle-loading shotguns and longbows in the six-day event which ended Saturday.

There were 131 deer killed at Wolf Creek Wildlife area in Morgan County and hunters took 85 deer at Salt Fork Wildlife Area in Guernsey County.

OSU Prof To Test Radial Tires

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio State University professor will challenge claims that radial tires handle better on snow this winter in tests in Wisconsin.

Eldridge A. Whitehurst will put radial tires on trial when he makes his annual trek north as testing director for the National Safety Council's two-week winter driving project.

"Increasingly there has been a lot of talk that radial tires are somehow superior in snow operations," said Whitehurst. "We have not seen any well-developed data that tell us that the construction of the tire improves the performance on snow." The tests are important for cities and states which require special snow equipment, such as chains or snow tires, on certain streets.

Some are qualifying radial tires as special equipment without research to back the decision, Whitehurst said.

Radial tires are the latest in a long series of devices and techniques for winter driving scrutinized in annual tests since 1939. Whitehurst has been in charge of testing for eight years.

For 11 months of the year, he is civil engineering professor at Ohio State.

FBI Baffled In Long Search
For 'Most-Wanted' Women

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI is baffled.

It hasn't a clue about the whereabouts of the three women who made the select "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives" list three years ago this October.

The women, all associated with what the Federal Bureau of investigation calls revolutionary or New Left groups, have virtually disappeared, an FBI spokesman said.

"We've had hundreds, maybe thousands of leads," he said, requesting that his name not be used because he is working on the case. "But there's been nothing real good on them in the last year and a half."

Since the Top Ten list was first started in 1950, the average lapse between the time a fugitive is placed on the list and when he's caught has been 145 days.

The three are Bernardine Rae Dohrn, 31, who is sought for unlawful interstate flight to avoid prosecution for mob action and violation of the federal anti-riot laws; Susan Edith Saxe and Katherine Ann Power, both 23, who were charged with a murder of a Boston police officer following a bank robbery.

Miss Dohrn was added to the list October 14, 1970. Miss Saxe and Miss Power were added three days later. In 1968, Ruth Eisemann-Schier became the first woman on the list after she was charged in the Barbara Jean Mackle kidnapping case.

The FBI said part of its problem in tracing the women is that they don't

Russian Cotton
Crop To Set
Harvest Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union is harvesting its fourth straight record cotton crop, more than 11.5 million bales, the Agriculture Department said today.

Production has risen from 10.6 million bales in 1970, then a record, to 10.9 million in 1971, and 11.2 million last year, the Foreign Agricultural Service said.

The report said the estimate was for four of the six Soviet republics that produce most of the country's cotton.

Production in the United States this year currently is estimated at 13.1 million bales. The 1973 U.S. crop, however, is down four per cent from last year.

Hungary is planning to construct 310 miles of expressway by 1985.

But during the other month, he's wearing his National Safety Council hat in Stevens Point, Wis.

Two weeks of that is spent testing. The other two weeks is used to train driver education instructors from across the nation in winter driving.

The testing is the main function, however, with about 50 people, most from industry, participating.

"Most of the information we get is not uniquely developed information," Whitehurst said. "I doubt that we've ever made a big discovery."

"But the information we collect is public information, which is not the case with company information."

The testing, which begins in January, also will look at the handling of small utility trailers, both on ice and dry pavement, the handling of delivery trucks with varying load distribution and the performance of new types of tire chains.

Say Saxbe Urged Tapes Be Destroyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William B. Saxbe, whom President Nixon has nominated as attorney general, has been quoted as advocating in August the destruction of Watergate tapes "if they're incriminating," the Washington Post reported Monday.

The newspaper said the Ohio senator was quoted Aug. 23 by the Hong Kong Standard in a speech to the local chapter of the American Chamber of Commerce in Hong Kong.

Saxbe was unavailable for comment. A spokesman for the Ohio Republican said Sunday, "He doesn't remember making any statement to that effect."

According to the newspaper: A transcript, prepared by a Standard newsman from a tape recording of Saxbe's remarks, quoted Saxbe: "I think the President is right on standing on his rights not to disclose the tapes."

"Personally wish I had never heard of the tapes and, unless they're incriminating, I think he should give them up. If they're incriminating, they should be destroyed and I'm sure he will."

Hong Kong Chamber President Herbert Minich, having read Chang's transcript, said it appeared to be accurate, the Post said.

Press Corps Under Fire

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Bob Woodward, who shared a Pulitzer Prize for a series of Washington Post articles detailing the Watergate affair, has hurled a barb at the White House press corps.

Woodward, co-author of the investigative reports with Carl Bernstein, called White House newsmen "no more than sophisticated stenographers" with "an obscene affection for the official version of events."

"The Watergate has demonstrated that they were being lied to. And so these reporters have adopted what I would only characterize as a superficial toughness. They go to press conferences and think they're being great investigators by asking the President questions like, 'Don't you think you should resign?'" Woodward said.

He spoke Sunday to members of the Liberal party of the Yale Political Union.

The FBI said part of its problem in tracing the women is that they don't fall into the usual criminal patterns. "They have no previous records, and they don't follow the usual criminal activity," the spokesman said. "they live an entirely different life than the criminal as we know him. You have to dig into different places, get information from entirely different sources."

They also were better educated than the typical alleged killers, bank robbers and kidnapers who have made the list in the past. Miss Dohrn holds a Doctor of Laws degree from the University of Chicago. Miss Saxe graduated from Brandeis University in June 1970, magna cum laude, and was a graduate student there at the time of the Boston killing. Miss Power was a senior at Brandeis.

News Of Interest To Women

6 The Circleville Herald, Tuesday November 6, 1973

Colored Slides Are Viewed By Circleville Garden Club

Circleville Garden Club held its November meeting Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Edward C. Wolf, 237 E. Mound St. Assisting in the hostess duties were her daughters, Ann and Elizabeth Wolf.

A detailed report of the Ohio Assn. of Garden Club's all day regional meeting in Chillicothe was reviewed by the delegates, Dr. W. Lloyd Sprouse, Miss Dhel Renick and Harford Renick. A freewill donation of $111. for Stage's Pond was collected.

Mrs. Allan Grossman of Grove City, a state accredited judge, presented for the 170 representatives from Pickaway, Ross, Jackson, Franklin and Fairfield Garden Clubs, numerous arrangements for the holiday season for everyone's home.

Members were urged to attend the Council of Pickaway County Garden Club's Nov. 15th meeting at 1 p.m. in the Service Center of Good Shepherd United Methodist Church, 310 E. Main St., Circleville.

Mrs. Edward R. Ray of Lancaster, an accredited state judge, will display and demonstrate the unusual in design, color and style for Thanksgiving and Christmas decorations. Logan Elm Club will host a tea following the program. Each club will provide the door prizes.

The program was opened with Mary Jane Watt reading the poem "November Comes And Goes" by Elizabeth Coatsworth. She concluded with "Don't Fall Asleep In Life." Robert Louis Stevenson once said that the man who forgets to be thankful has fallen asleep in life. Thus Thanksgiving Day was proclaimed as a time to slow down and count one's blessings.

Coating" was the topic presented by Wilamena Haecker. She told the recipe for preserving tender bulbs to be stored until spring planting.

To conclude the program, Mrs. Watt showed colored slides of Ohio owned recreational areas: Shawnee, Burr Oak, Saltfork and Old Man's Cave. A tour through the Amish countryside around Walnut hills, Millersburg and the Swiss Cheese Festival at Sugar Creek. Then views of the seasonable blooms and their tropical greenhouse plants at Kingwood Center, Mansfield.

One of the most colorful trips was at tulip time in Holland, Mich. then south to Calloway Gardens, Pine Mt., Ga. and on through the large estate gardens in Atlanta and the State Park at Stone Mountain where Thomas David, President of the Confederate Army, with Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson are carved in solid granite 863 feet in height. Next were slides of Shakertown, Ky., a restored village of the Shakers.

Mrs. Watt concluded her points of interest by showing club members selling their dried materials over the years during Pumpkin Shows.

A dessert course was served by the hostesses.

The annual Christmas dinner meeting will be held 6:30 p.m. Dec. 7th at Wardell's Party Home. There will be a guest speaker and each member is to bring a gift to exchange.

MEATLESS SUPPER

Fish soup, toast, molded egg and vegetable salad, fruit and cookies.

Molded Egg And Vegetable Salad

Fine flavor and hearty.

1 envelope unflavored gelatin

1/2 cup cold water

1 teaspoon salt

2 tablespoons lemon juice

1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Dash of cayenne pepper

3/4 cup mayonnaise

1/2 teaspoons minced onion

1/2 cup finely diced celery

1/4 cup finely diced green pepper

1/4 cup diced canned pimiento

4 hard-cooked eggs, coarsely chopped

Soften gelatin in cold water; place over boiling water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Stir in salt, lemon juice, Worcestershire and cayenne, cool. Gently whisk in mayonnaise until combined. Fold in remaining ingredients. Turn into six 1/2 cup individual molds or custard cups. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with salad greens. Makes 6 servings.

SATURDAY NIGHT PARTY

Peach custard trifle, assorted sandwiches and beverage.

PEACH CUSTARD TRIFLE

1 package (2 1/4 ounces) custard-flavor dessert mix

1 1/4 cups milk

1/2 teaspoon almond extract

1 can (1 pound, 13 ounces) sliced peaches, drained

1 frozen pound cake, thawed and cut into 1/2-inch slices

1 package (2 ounces) whipped topping mix

1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped

Maraschino cherries

Slivered blanched almonds

Into a 1-quart saucepan turn the dessert mix; gradually stir in 1 cup of the milk. Over low heat, stirring constantly to prevent sticking, bring to a full boil. Remove from heat; stir in 1/4 teaspoon of the almond extract. Pour into a bowl; chill until firm. Drain peaches, reserving 1/2 cup of their syrup. Line bottom and sides of a serving dish (about 11 by 7 1/2 inches) with pound cake slices. Sprinkle cake with reserved peach syrup mixed with remaining 1/4 teaspoon almond extract. Arrange peaches over cake. Refrigerate. To chilled dessert mix add whipped topping mix and remaining 3/4 cup milk; beat until light and fluffy and mixture holds soft peaks; spread over peaches. Refrigerate until ready to serve. Garnish with whipped cream, cherries and almonds. Makes 12 to 15 servings.

'Thanksgiving' Theme Used For Deercreek Garden Club

"Thanksgiving" was the general theme for the Thursday meeting of Deercreek Garden Club in the Williamsport United Methodist Church.

During roll call by Elsie Wright, secretary, members responded by telling of something they were currently grateful for.

Della Lemmings conducted the program, first calling attention to Vandalia Corcoran's birthstone ring and arrangement of a variety of chrysanthemums from her garden as she reviewed the history of the birthstone and the flower of the month. She then elaborated on ways of celebrating Thanksgiving Day. The American holiday started with the Pilgrims and in 1863 was proclaimed by George Washington for celebration that last Thursday of November.

Narc Agents Are Indicted

JACKSON, Ohio (AP)—Two private narcotics investigators have been indicted by the Jackson County Grand Jury in connection with a shootout in a cafe in nearby Wellston last summer.

James M. Parsittie, 27, of Massillon and William E. Myers, 26, of Cambridge were charged with assault with a dangerous weapon and carrying concealed weapons.

Myers also was indicted for possession of a concealed knife.

County Prosecutor Thomas S. DeLay said a third man, George McCarty, has been charged with assault with a deadly weapon in the shootings but that his case had not been heard by the grand jury.

The shootings followed a scuffle between McCarty and the other two men, both agents for Multi-State UNIT, Inc., of Columbus, a private narcotics investigating agency.

Production Rising At Columbus Plant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Production was expected to be back to normal in about a week at the Columbus Coated Fabrics plant where workers have stayed off the job because of an outbreak of a nerve sickness.

About two-thirds of the plant's 950 workers were back on the job Monday after agreement was reached on a safety program by union and company officials.

If you are hard-cooking eggs and one of them has a crack, add a teaspoon of vinegar to the cooking water; this will help seal the crack in the shell.

Jr. Women's Club Voted Donations

Circleville Junior Women's Club held its November meeting in the home of Mrs. Jerry Jones, Wintertgreen Hills. Speakers for the evening were five candidates for the Circleville Board of Education and Miss Miriam Weaver who presented a film on "Stage's Pond."

Mrs. John Farthing presided over the business meeting. Mrs. Jones, vice president, informed the members of a 25th anniversary celebration of the club to be held in December at Pickaway Country Club. All past presidents of the club will be special guests. An amendment to the constitution changing the end of the business year from December to June was approved.

The following officers will serve until June 1974: president, Mrs. John Farthing; vice president, Mrs. Jerry Jones; recording secretary, Mrs. Atwood Jones; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Dave Sealock; treasurer, Mrs. Ronald Kay; historians, Mrs. James McLeod and Mrs. James Kingsley.

The club voted to give AAUW $50 for the RIF program and $500 to Pickaway County Garden Club for Stage's Pond Fund.

Following adjournment, refreshments were served by Mrs. James Kingsley.

A detailed report of the Ohio Assn. of Garden Club's all day regional meeting in Chillicothe was reviewed by the delegates, Dr. W. Lloyd Sprouse, Miss Dhel Renick and Harford Renick. A freewill donation of $111. for Stage's Pond was collected.

Mrs. Allan Grossman of Grove City, a state accredited judge, presented for the 170 representatives from Pickaway, Ross, Jackson, Franklin and Fairfield Garden Clubs, numerous arrangements for the holiday season for everyone's home.

Members were urged to attend the Council of Pickaway County Garden Club's Nov. 15th meeting at 1 p.m. in the Service Center of Good Shepherd United Methodist Church, 310 E. Main St., Circleville.

Mrs. Edward R. Ray of Lancaster, an accredited state judge, will display and demonstrate the unusual in design, color and style for Thanksgiving and Christmas decorations. Logan Elm Club will host a tea following the program. Each club will provide the door prizes.

The program was opened with Mary Jane Watt reading the poem "November Comes And Goes" by Elizabeth Coatsworth. She concluded with "Don't Fall Asleep In Life." Robert Louis Stevenson once said that the man who forgets to be thankful has fallen asleep in life. Thus Thanksgiving Day was proclaimed as a time to slow down and count one's blessings.

Fits and starts are what our business is all about

Of course you know your baby's size should fit. But did you know he'll need several different kinds of shoes? Creeping, toddling and walking. As a child's steps become steeper, his shoes should become sturdier. We give your child the right shoe, with the right fit, at the right time. We call it "Progression Fitting." MEATLESS SUPPER

Fish soup, toast, molded egg and vegetable salad, fruit and cookies.

Molded Egg And Vegetable Salad

Fine flavor and hearty.
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Dash of cayenne pepper
3/4 cup mayonnaise
1 1/2 teaspoons minced onion
1/2 cup finely diced celery
1/4 cup finely diced green pepper
1/4 cup diced canned pimiento
4 hard-cooked eggs, coarsely chopped

Soften gelatin in cold water; place over boiling water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Stir in salt, lemon juice, Worcestershire and cayenne, cool. Gently whisk in mayonnaise until combined. Fold in remaining ingredients. Turn into six 1/2 cup individual molds or custard cups. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with salad greens. Makes 6 servings.

SATURDAY NIGHT PARTY

Peach custard trifle, assorted sandwiches and beverage.

PEACH CUSTARD TRIFLE

1 package (2 1/4 ounces) custard-flavor dessert mix
1 1/4 cups milk
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
1 can (1 pound, 13 ounces) sliced peaches, drained
1 frozen pound cake, thawed and cut into 1/2-inch slices
1 package (2 ounces) whipped topping mix
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
Maraschino cherries
Slivered blanched almonds
Into a 1-quart saucepan turn the dessert mix; gradually stir in 1 cup of the milk. Over low heat, stirring constantly to prevent sticking, bring to a full boil. Remove from heat; stir in 1/4 teaspoon of the almond extract. Pour into a bowl; chill until firm. Drain peaches, reserving 1/2 cup of their syrup. Line bottom and sides of a serving dish (about 11 by 7 1/2 inches) with pound cake slices. Sprinkle cake with reserved peach syrup mixed with remaining 1/4 teaspoon almond extract. Arrange peaches over cake. Refrigerate. To chilled dessert mix add whipped topping mix and remaining 3/4 cup milk; beat until light and fluffy and mixture holds soft peaks; spread over peaches. Refrigerate until ready to serve. Garnish with whipped cream, cherries and almonds. Makes 12 to 15 servings.

'Thanksgiving' Theme Used For Deercreek Garden Club

"Thanksgiving" was the general theme for the Thursday meeting of Deercreek Garden Club in the Williamsport United Methodist Church.

During roll call by Elsie Wright, secretary, members responded by telling of something they were currently grateful for.

Della Lemmings conducted the program, first calling attention to Vandalia Corcoran's birthstone ring and arrangement of a variety of chrysanthemums from her garden as she reviewed the history of the birthstone and the flower of the month. She then elaborated on ways of celebrating Thanksgiving Day. The American holiday started with the Pilgrims and in 1863 was proclaimed by George Washington for celebration that last Thursday of November.

Narc Agents Are Indicted

JACKSON, Ohio (AP)—Two private narcotics investigators have been indicted by the Jackson County Grand Jury in connection with a shootout in a cafe in nearby Wellston last summer.

James M. Parsittie, 27, of Massillon and William E. Myers, 26, of Cambridge were charged with assault with a dangerous weapon and carrying concealed weapons.

Myers also was indicted for possession of a concealed knife.

County Prosecutor Thomas S. DeLay said a third man, George McCarty, has been charged with assault with a deadly weapon in the shootings but that his case had not been heard by the grand jury.

The shootings followed a scuffle between McCarty and the other two men, both agents for Multi-State UNIT, Inc., of Columbus, a private narcotics investigating agency.

Production Rising At Columbus Plant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Production was expected to be back to normal in about a week at the Columbus Coated Fabrics plant where workers have stayed off the job because of an outbreak of a nerve sickness.

About two-thirds of the plant's 950 workers were back on the job Monday after agreement was reached on a safety program by union and company officials.

If you are hard-cooking eggs and one of them has a crack, add a teaspoon of vinegar to the cooking water; this will help seal the crack in the shell.

Jr. Women's Club Voted Donations

Circleville Junior Women's Club held its November meeting in the home of Mrs. Jerry Jones, Wintergreen Hills. Speakers for the evening were five candidates for the Circleville Board of Education and Miss Miriam Weaver who presented a film on "Stage's Pond."

Mrs. John Farthing presided over the business meeting. Mrs. Jones, vice president, informed the members of a 25th anniversary celebration of the club to be held in December at Pickaway Country Club. All past presidents of the club will be special guests. An amendment to the constitution changing the end of the business year from December to June was approved.

The following officers will serve until June 1974: president, Mrs. John Farthing; vice president, Mrs. Jerry Jones; recording secretary, Mrs. Atwood Jones; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Dave Sealock; treasurer, Mrs. Ronald Kay; historians, Mrs. James McLeod and Mrs. James Kingsley.

The club voted to give AAUW $50 for the RIF program and $500 to Pickaway County Garden Club for Stage's Pond Fund.

Following adjournment, refreshments were served by Mrs. James Kingsley.

This week's teacher feature is petite, bright-eyed Judy Sims. Mrs. Sims resides with her husband, Donald, Route 2, Amanda, in the village of Oakland.

She acquired her BSHEC at Ohio University and previously taught one year at Logan High School in Hocking County. Her teaching position at Logan Elm is Vocational Home Economics, grades nine, 11, and 12, and is kept active as Future Homemakers of America advisor. Her interests include sewing, needlework and crafts, sports, and people.

Mrs. Sims stated Logan Elm has a very friendly atmosphere and the students are eager to learn and extremely likable. She mentioned that immediately one feels free to ask most anyone about a problem.

When inquired about her dislikes of LE, she alleged that she had none as of yet. We would like to wish Mrs. Sims good luck at Logan Elm and hope her opinion remains as high and is never suppressed.

LE Students Elect Class Officers

The student body voted Oct. 4 on class officers. They were chosen as follows:

Wayne Linthicum was chosen president of the Sophomore class. Wayne is 15 years old and resides at 230 Pawnee Drive with Mrs. Myrna Linthicum.

His activities include varsity football, wrestling, golf, president of the sophomore class and varsity club. His hobbies are listening to good music, sleeping, sports in general, and just having a good time.

At present, the Sophomore Class isn't busy on any certain project, but in the future they will be choosing their class rings, and starting to make money for next year's Junior Prom.

Wayne feels this year will be a good one.

Officers who will work under Wayne are: Lonnie Maxson, vice president; — Cindy McCabe, secretary; — Steve Rawlins, treasurer; — Seth Dresbach, sergeant-at-arms.

Chosen as president of the Junior class was Scott Pontius. Scott, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Pontius, Route, is 16 years old.

Scott's activities include varsity club, varsity baseball and basketball. His hobbies are sports, hunting and fishing.

The Junior class is working on money making projects for the prom and are setting up committees for various other projects.

Scott thinks it will be a task to get everything done, but with everyone's help, it can be done.

15— Brad Luckhart: Yes, because Snoopy grew it.

16— Becky Throckmorton: I haven't decided yet.

17— Darlene Schaal: No comment.

18— Scott Marshall: No, because there isn't such a thing.

19— Linda Myers: No, because I never got any candy except for trick or treating.

20— Jess Hall: I don't believe in him 'cause I never saw him.

Nation Feels Wintry Breath

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Freezing temperatures were recorded from the Rockies to the Appalachians today, and an autumn storm piled heavy snow across the Pacific Northwest.

Temperatures slid into the low 30s, or lower, as far south as the Ozarks and the Ohio Valley during the night. The freeze extended into much of the interior Northeast as well.

Six inches of snow blanketed parts of Oregon and Washington through Monday, and almost a foot covered the Oregon mountains.

Heavy-snow warnings were posted for parts of Montana, Oregon, Washington, Wyoming and northern California. Travelers' advisories were issued for the mountains of Idaho, northern Wyoming, western Oregon and northern California, where snow piled up in gusty winds.

Freezing drizzle glazed sections of western North Dakota ahead of the main body of the storm.

Snow flurries dusted parts of Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York, and rain or snow touched northern Michigan. Other rain systems dampened parts of New Jersey, Florida, Texas and Kansas.

Most rain measurements were less than an inch. However, San Rafael, Calif., collected almost 1.5 inches.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 1 at Cut Bank, Mont., to 78 at Key West, Fla.

'Rocky' Saxbe Speaks

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Charles R. "Rocky" Saxbe, an Ohio State University law school student, will stand in for his father tonight at an Ohio Republican fund-raising dinner here. His father, U. S. Sen. William Saxbe, R-Ohio, canceled his scheduled appearance at the dinner, to be held at the home of William Verity, president and chairman of Armco Steel Corp. Saxbe has been nominated to be U.S. Attorney General.

Temperatures slid into the low 30s, or lower, as far south as the Ozarks and the Ohio Valley during the night. The freeze extended into much of the interior Northeast as well.

Six inches of snow blanketed parts of Oregon and Washington through Monday, and almost a foot covered the Oregon mountains.

Heavy-snow warnings were posted for parts of Montana, Oregon, Washington, Wyoming and northern California. Travelers' advisories were issued for the mountains of Idaho, northern Wyoming, western Oregon and northern California, where snow piled up in gusty winds.

Freezing drizzle glazed sections of western North Dakota ahead of the main body of the storm.

Snow flurries dusted parts of Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York, and rain or snow touched northern Michigan.

Other rain systems dampened parts of New Jersey, Florida, Texas and Kansas.

Most rain measurements were less than an inch. However, San Rafael, Calif., collected almost 1.5 inches.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 1 at Cut Bank, Mont., to 78 at Key West, Fla.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

A little over 10 months ago, the last soldier was inducted into the Army. Since then, the armed services have been operating under an all-volunteer system.

I supported this change from a draft to an all-volunteer system, but there were those who felt the elimination of the draft was the death knell for American combat strength. They argued that not enough individuals would step forward to fill the ranks of our armed forces, and that the caliber of those who did would be less than that of a selective service system.

Recently, I received a report from the Secretary of the Army in which he stresses after only 10 months, all indications are the volunteer Army is working. In fact, the Secretary points out, the Army today is better than it was at the end of the draft.

While it is my fervent hope that the United States never reaches the point again where our servicemen must be sent into battle, it is extremely encouraging to know our armed services under an all-volunteer system are ready and able to defend our country should the necessity arise.

For example, while recruitment goals have not been met entirely, the Secretary points out that the Army has been running about 84 per cent of its recruiting objective since December 29, 1972, when the draft ended. Some 124,000 men and women have enlisted, and over 34,000 have reenlisted. In addition, those who are entering the Army are of a high quality. About 10 per cent more high school graduates entered the Army since the draft ended than in the six months prior to that time. As a result, the United States maintains an active Army of over 794,000 which is 97 per cent of its programmed strength. There is still room for improvement, but the ranks have been filled far above any level of concern, and the quality is high.

In another very important area, the volunteer system also proves to be succeeding; and that is discipline. Critics claimed a decline in discipline would plague a volunteer Army, but this has not been the case. A comparison of discipline trends for a period covering both draft and volunteer experience reveals that rates for AWOL, desertion, crimes of violence, crimes against property, court-martials and separations under less than honorable conditions are down. Only drug related offenses have not followed this reduction trend, but that is one area where the Secretary of the Army assures special attention is being given.

Most importantly, combat readiness of our Army has improved significantly. When the draft ended, only 10 of the 13 divisions of the Army were fully formed. Only four of these divisions met the Army's stringent readiness standards and were considered ready for combat. By contrast, the Army now has all 13 divisions fully operational, and 10 of them are ready for combat. The situation is improving and undoubtedly will continue to do so.

What the Army has been doing to attract new recruits is to improve the benefits and standards of living, making them comparable to that of a similar civilian job. Emphasis has also been placed on education and training so that the soldiers' jobs are important and useful and their service in the Army is a step forward in their lives—not an interruption.

Above all, the Secretary emphasized that the volunteer Army is working "because there are still young men and women in America who want to serve their country." This is the most reassuring fact of all, I believe: that a new generation of patriots does exist, and that the young men and women of today have not forsaken this country but indeed are willing to defend her in these troubled times.

representing nine utilities, said the power companies believe the proposal doesn't go far enough.

"It is our position that these proposals represent unreasonable and unlawful agency action," he said.

Ohio EPA Director Dr. Ira L. Whitman said the proposed two-year extension is a concession to the energy shortage. He said the original standards were developed with the belief low-sulfur fuel would be available.

Whitman said it isn't and agreed "scrubbing" equipment to clean emissions from high-sulfur fuel hasn't been developed.

The rule change would provide "substantial relief" by allowing high-sulfur Ohio coal to be burned temporarily while cleansing techniques are developed, Snyder said.

An official of the University of Cincinnati said that school may have to forgo plans to convert its power plant to oil, because the fuel isn't available.

Richard Neidhard, associate director of the physical plant division, testified the university "is finding it almost impossible to find oil to burn" instead of coal.

Columbus attorney James O. Seymour, another witness at the session, urged the OEPA to include particulate limits in the extension.

"If coal burning causes both sulfur dioxide and particulates, it seems only reasonable that sulfur dioxide and particulates be considered together and perhaps solved together," he said.

Temperatures hit below the freezing mark in Ohio Monday night except for an area along the shore of Lake Erie where cloudiness and the warmer lake waters held the mercury a few degrees above the freezing mark.

The cloud band along the shore, due to the flow of cold air across the Great Lakes, also extended inland covering most of the northeast portion of the state.

A few light snow flurries were also reported during the night in this cloud area.

Contrasting with the northeast, the southeast-east portion of the state was clear, allowing temperatures to be a few degrees lower than the cloud-covered portions of the state.

Very cold air for the season will continue to flow across Ohio today and tonight, continuing much the same weather conditions which prevailed during the night. Tonight the cloudiness will be clearing out of the northeast, ending snow flurries. With clearer skies and lighter winds tonight temperatures will be at least several degrees lower in most sections than Monday night readings. With sunny skies and a weakening of the northerly air flow Wednesday temperatures will begin moderating.

Seek To Boost Fishmeal Output

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soybean farmers probably will not see any huge rise in competition on world markets soon from Peruvian fishmeal, one of the richest sources of protein for livestock feed, the Agriculture Department predicted today.

The Foreign Agricultural Service added, however, that Peru currently is surveying anchovy fishing conditions and may resume fishmeal production at stepped-up rates from the low levels of the past two years.

"But even if Peru has good harvesting when fishing resumes, full recovery is not expected in 1974," the agency said in a weekly Foreign Agriculture report.

Soaring world demand for high-protein livestock feed, coupled with declines in Peruvian fishmeal output, led to record soybean prices for U.S. farmers in 1973.

Even if Peru turns out more fishmeal, officials said it has a backlog of orders from eastern bloc countries reportedly totaling 600,000 metric tons; orders from Cuba for more than 100,000 tons; and from the Peoples Republic of China for 150,000 tons.

World production of fishmeal is estimated at 3.5 million tons, down 567,000 tons from 1972. Norway, South Africa, Chile, Denmark and Iceland are large producers and exporters but altogether they produce not much more than Peru.

The report said it appears world fishmeal production in the 1970s will not show as much growth as in the past decade.

"This probably means the feed industry will look to soybean meal for substitution to the extent possible, since it is the only major high-protein supply which will be available for both domestic and foreign use," the report said.

Fishmeal prices soared to a record monthly average of $628 per ton delivered to U.S. East Coast ports last June. Although they dropped to $413 per ton by early October, they still were far above the $373 level of a year earlier.

Soybean meal, which contains about 44 per cent protein compared with 65 per cent for fishmeal, jumped from $109 per ton in October 1972 to a record $412 last June. By mid-October, soybean meal was about $170 per ton, basis Decatur, Ill.

Electrical Companies Back Relaxed Emission Limits

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A proposal to relax emission limits on sulfur dioxide has drawn support from a dozen Ohio electrical companies.

The utilities said they could not meet the present July 1, 1975 deadline. They blamed the energy shortage and claimed technology to cleanse gases given off by burning coal does not exist.

The testimony came before the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency which is considering extending imposition of the standards until 1977.

DON'T WAIT 'TIL WINTER TO WINTERIZE YOUR HOME

By following these simple tips, you'll use a lot less gas next winter. And as prices rise, it's especially important that we don't waste valuable natural gas.

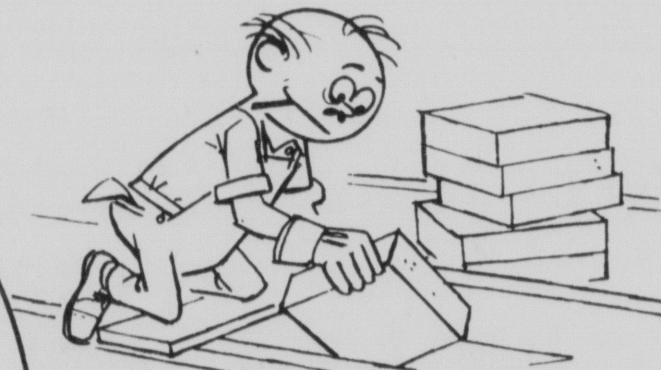

New Gas Furnace

If you have an old conversion burner, you'll be wise to replace it with a modern new gas furnace, designed to operate with less gas. As a present gas heating customer, you can install a new gas furnace and be sure of getting gas supplies in the future. A more efficient new gas furnace will give you more heat for less money. Plus it will save space in the basement. Why not call your dealer for advice, while the weather's nice?

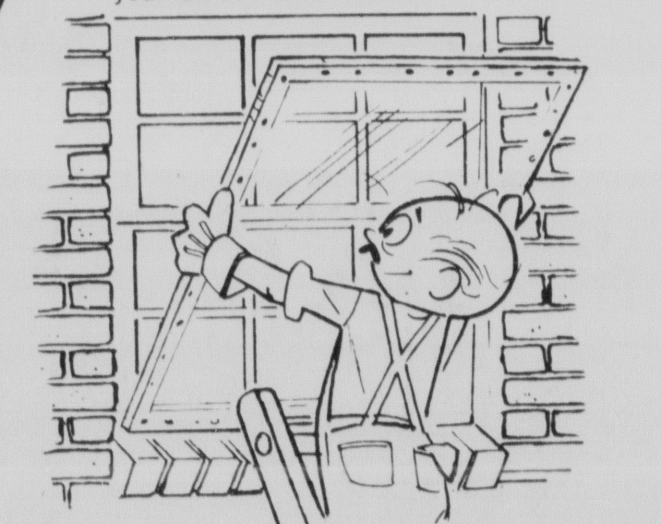

Gas is precious — pure energy ... use it wisely.

COLUMBIAGAS

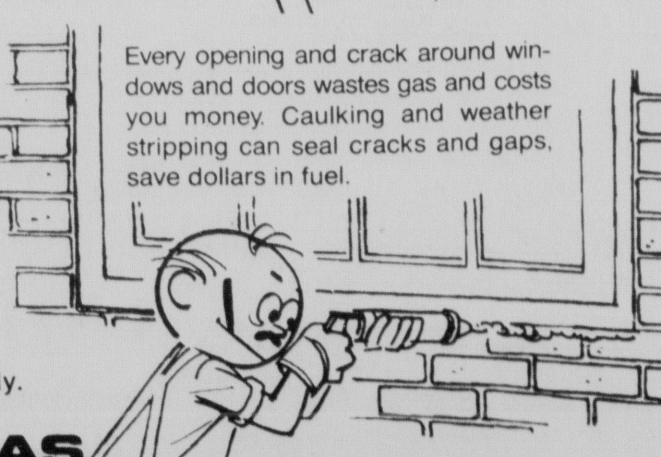

Install adequate insulation. Simply laying a 6 inch thickness of insulation in the attic can mean significant savings in gas and money.

Storm windows and doors, or plastic sheeting can reduce heat loss as much as 10%. Your home stays warmer, your furnace uses less fuel.

Every opening and crack around windows and doors wastes gas and costs you money. Caulking and weather stripping can seal cracks and gaps, save dollars in fuel.

Grange News Campaign Bill Compromise Eyed

POMONA GRANGE

The fall inspection meeting of Pomona Grange was held Saturday evening at the Grange Hall. The Master Frank Lands Sr. presided over the meeting.

Lecturer, Paul Dunkle, planned the program around the theme for this year, "The Grange—Beacon Light of the Community." Grange is a family fraternity with interests in agriculture, education, transportation, legislation and community service.

The program cited themes of each division of action: juniors, "Care and Share;" youth, "Our Future in Grange and Country;" women's activities, "Reaching for the Stars;" Lecturer, "Light the Way."

Explanations of their current Beacon Lights were given by Bonnie Bolender, member of the Governor's Traffic Safety Commission; Frank Lands Jr., youth chairman; Harold Bumgarner, state Grange delegate; Barbara McKenzie, state Grange staff member and Ernest Bidwell, state Grange deputy. Lydia DeLong explained the key responsibilities of each of the Seven Great Lights—The founders of Grange.

Hoyt Timmons was recognized as the brightest light in a contest of the seven subordinate contests.

The Rev. Ray Mann of Saltcreek Grange became a Pomona member during the presentation of the fifth degree. Pomona's Court was arranged by Mrs. Frank Lands Sr., Mrs. Ralph DeLong and Lydia DeLong.

During the business portion of the meeting, Dunkle told of plans for a meeting of subordinate lecturers to arrange an agenda for future action. Lands announced that Pickaway County Grange youth won first place at State Grange scrapbook contest.

Mr. and Mrs. Justice Harden, inspection deputies from Vinton County, were welcomed. Plans were made for exchange programs, Degree Day and the county banquet. Mrs. Bidwell reminded that the Legislative Conference is Jan. 18 and the district meeting is Jan. 25.

A nominating committee was named to select a youth candidate for the county fair board. An announcement was made concerning the glaucoma clinic Nov. 11, sponsored by the Senior Citizens at the Lutheran Parish Hall.

Yule Lights To Be Dim

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—City officials in Cleveland and some Akron businessmen say they'll sacrifice a little of December's festive Christmas lights in order to conserve electrical power.

Similar lighting cutbacks were announced earlier in Columbus. Although the energy saving steps will save little power, the officials say it's the spirit that counts.

Cleveland City Properties Director George Rost said the city would eliminate the traditional Christmas tree lights on the large evergreen outside City Hall.

Rost said the city will illuminate City Hall itself as well as the trees along the downtown mall but that "real tiny miniature lamps" would be substituted for the regular Christmas bulbs.

In Akron, the Downtown Association said it will put up the usual trees downtown. This year, however, the lights will go on two hours later than before, a spokesman said.

The savings in electricity will be "infinitesimal as far as wattage is concerned," he admitted. But he said the plan was intended "as a gesture."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A six-member conference committee of the Ohio Legislature meets again this afternoon to see if a partisan deadlock on campaign finance legislation can be resolved.

It will be three weeks since the governor called into session a special meeting of the legislature to prepare bills aimed at curbing unethical campaign finance practices, and the outlook for a strong bill remains doubtful.

The dispute centers on how to handle donations from labor unions and political parties. The House and the Senate last week passed separate versions of bills dealing with the subject, but one bill is thought to favor Democrats, and one Republicans.

The task of the conference committee of three Democrats and three Republicans is to construct a bill equally favorable to both parties.

Indianapolis Fire Loss In Millions

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Police and firemen today were guarding the smoldering ruins of a multimillion dollar blaze.

The fire started during the noon rush hour Monday in a vacant department store that was being razed to make room for a parking lot. It soon engulfed most of a city block in the heart of the downtown area, destroying or badly damaging five buildings and scorching several others.

Unofficial damage estimates approached $15 million, but no serious injuries were reported.

About 20 buildings were evacuated Monday, and authorities said all occupants were believed rescued from the buildings.

Police said a three-block area would be closed to traffic at least through today because of the danger the burned-out buildings, one a 12-story structure, might collapse.

A spokesman said it might be three days before the area would be cleared of thousands of bricks that cascaded from the burning buildings, broken glass and other debris.

As firefighters stood by to guard against any new flareups Monday night, policemen maintained a heavy patrol over the area to prevent looting from stores with shattered front windows.

Firemen, hampered by chilly, gusty autumn winds that whipped the flames and blew water, fought the fire about three hours before bringing it under control.

Three firemen were hospitalized for smoke inhalation, but Fire Chief Donald Lamb said, "We feel as though we've been very fortunate."

Lamb said the demolition company told him there were no workmen in the

Claim President Being Overworked

DANIELSON, Conn. (AP) — Sen. Mark Hatfield says the American people have saddled the presidency with too many responsibilities that one man cannot carry out.

"We have corporately in this nation made a god out of political power," the Oregon Republican said Monday night. "We have created in the office of president an idol.... We have demanded of our president a combination of a tribal chief, a bishop, an instigator of political reform, an economic manipulator and a soothsayer for all of our fears of the future."

Meanwhile, most other lawmakers have gone home to await conference committee results and a call for a full session. "I don't see any reason for calling them in until the committee agrees on a bill," said House Speaker A. G. Lancione, D—99 Bellaire.

Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan called the legislature into extraordinary session Oct. 23 and requested a 90-day bill that could be in effect by the Feb. 6, 1974 candidates' filing deadline. To meet that goal, the legislature would have to pass the law by Wednesday—a virtual impossibility, legislative leaders said.

The committee is studying separate proposals by the Republican Senate and the Democratic House, and while there are several areas of conflict, the main difficulty is with the union provisions in the Democratic bill backed by Gilligan.

It would exempt the labor unions from a $3,000 limit on organizational giving if the contributions came from individuals in amounts of $10 or less. Republicans want the individual members to have the right to earmark their donations, while Democrats would continue the present practice of allowing the unions' political action committees decide how the money would be spent.

The Republican proposal provides a $3,000 limit on contributions from individuals and also permits giving the same amount to local party committees in addition to the state party organization.

Democrats, who would limit such donations to $3,000 to a state and—or local party, assert that the provision is a "massive loophole" for traditional wealthy GOP contributors.

Some observers are saying the legislature will come up with a bill that ignores those key issues but contains other agreed upon principles such as full disclosure of contributions and expenditures and a new state commission to help enforce campaign laws.

Woman Hurt In Two-Car Accident

Minor injuries were sustained by Kay E. Metson, 31, Route 2, Ashville, at 4 p.m. Monday when the car in which she was a passenger was struck by another vehicle.

Ben R. Metson, 33, Route 2, Ashville, and Robert E. Berner, 57, Route 2, Circleville, were both driving south on Route 104, 1.7 miles south of the Route 762 junction when Berner attempted to pass Metson. The Berner vehicle struck the Metson vehicle in the left front.

Ptl. R. P. Burkhart of the State Highway Patrol issued a citation to Berner for improper overtaking and passing. Metson reported to the investigating officer that he would take his wife to the hospital.

Auto Fire Caused By Backfire

A backfire through the carburetor caused a minor damage auto fire at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the rear of 456 W. High St. The auto was owned by Ted Jenkins, Route 2.

The Circleville Fire Department warns that most of the automobile fires are caused by backfiring through the carburetor.

Tough Defensive Contest Seen In OSU-MSU Collision

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — George Hill, the architect of top-ranked Ohio State's taut football defense, seems unworried the Buckeyes haven't beaten Michigan State since he joined the OSU staff in 1971.

"We've got a lot of momentum and great people with a lot of pride. I'll bank on that," said Hill, whose defense leads the nation in fewest points yielded.

The Spartans, who visit Ohio Stadium in a Big Ten game Saturday, have whipped Ohio State 17-10 and 19-12 the last two seasons. Hill can explain why.

"Michigan State just lines up and knocks the heck out of people," said Hill. "You've got to buckle your chin straps and cinch them real good when you play the Spartans."

Michigan state brings a 3-5 overall and 2-3 Big Ten mark into the game against the unbeaten Buckeyes, 7-0 for all games and tied with Michigan at 5-0 for the conference lead.

Ed Ferkany, an Ohio State offensive coach, calls Michigan State the best defense "personnel wise" the Buckeyes have faced so far this season.

"It's a typical Michigan State defense," Ferkany said. "They just line up and play you headon. You have to take it to them one-on-one."

While Ohio State is yielding 2.8 points a game, the Spartans have leaked for more than two touchdowns only twice. Michigan won 31-0 and UCLA did it 34-21.

Ferkany expects Michigan State to copy Illinois and try a goal line-type defense on first down to contain the vaunted Buckeye rushing game.

"If they go to that defense,"

LE Reserves Beat Carroll

The Logan Elm High School reserve football team defeated Bloom-Carroll reserves 52-14 Monday.

The Braves scored in the first when Tim Justus blocked a punt, picked up the ball and ran it 40 yards for a TD. Dave Hulse added the 2-point conversion. Still in the first period Hulse scored from 12 yards out and Dale Reynolds added the extra point.

In the second quarter, Phil Manson scored on a 45-yard end around play and Mark Justus on a 30-yard pass from Bob Sargent. The 2-point conversion was added by Reynolds after the TD pass.

The Bulldogs' Dickinson scored a touchdown and the 2-point conversion in the second quarter and the score at halftime was 30-8.

In the fourth period, Reynolds scored on a 60-yard run, and a 31-yard run and Mark Justus on a 25-yard aerial from Sagrent. Sargent added two 2-point conversions in the period.

Dickinson tallied for Carroll from 13 yards out to complete the scoring.

The little Braves finished the season with a 5-1-1 record. "The team played very fine ball this year," reserve coach Steve Barney said. "Their success is due to everyone working and playing together both offensively and defensively."

WCH Stays On Top In AP Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Warren Western Reserve, Washington Court House and Newark Catholic are one week away in their bids for the 1973 Associated Press Ohio high school football titles.

The three unbeaten and untied powers gun for their tenth straight triumphs this fall in the final round of regular season games Friday night.

Western Reserve, the 1972 Ohio state playoff champion, remained solidly in front in Class AAA this week with 276 points to 233 for runnerup Cincinnati Moeller.

Washington Court House, one victory shy of its first perfect season in 21 years, piled up 225 points to keep the Class AA lead. Minerva again was second with 197 points.

Cory Rawson closed the gap on Newark Catholic in Class A. The leading Green Wave had 216 points to Cory Rawson's 205 points.

A statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters rates the Ohio schools each week.

Massillon, the 1972 AP poll champion, moved up a notch to third place this week in Class AAA with 202 points while Youngstown Mooney leaped two spots to No. 4. Barberton advanced from eighth to complete the top five.

Then came Newark, Akron Garfield, Lakewood St. Edward, Fremont Ross and Bowling Green, the lone newcomer in the No. 10 spot.

Cincinnati Reading, Ironton, Dayton Jefferson and Lisbon Beaver kept the third through seven positions in Class AA. Newark Licking Valley traded spots with Cleveland Benedictine for the No. 8 slot. Columbus Watterson was ninth and Wheelersburg tenth, a jump of one position.

In Class A, Marion Pleasant, which has won the last two state poll crowns, moved up to third from fourth.

Ada was fourth and then followed Portsmouth Notre Dame, McDonald, Norwalk St. Paul, Kirtland, Sugar Grove Berne Union and Yellow Springs.

Yellow Springs, tied for 13th last week, was the only new face in the Class A top ten.

Steelers Defeat Redskins

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers, licking quarterback adversity with big offensive plays, a stubborn defense and a little good fortune, have widened their lead in the American Football Conference Central Division.

Down to back-up quarterbacks Terry Hanratty and Joe Gilliam because of Terry Bradshaw's separated shoulder, the Steelers held off a late charge to defeat the Washington Redskins 21-16 Monday night in a nationally televised National Football League game.

"We've got somebody up there taking care of us," quipped Steeler tackle Joe Greene, who recovered one Redskins' fumble and fell on two others by the Steelers.

Hanratty lasted only a half before aggravating a rib injury, but he staked the Steelers to a 14-6 lead on touchdown passes to Preston Pearson and Ron Shanklin.

When the ailing Hanratty left the game early in the third quarter, the lead was in the hands of Gilliam, a second-year man who was on the Steelers' taxi squad last week.

Steeler Coach Chuck Noll said Gilliam threw some good passes, some bad ones and some when he shouldn't have. "We wanted to move on the ground once we got the lead," Noll said, "but Joe's talent lies in his ability to throw the football."

Gilliam fired a 46-yard touchdown pass to wide receiver Barry Pearson six minutes into the fourth quarter to give the Steelers a 21-9 lead. But on the next series, Gilliam passed on second-and-12 at the Steeler 22 — a time when Noll felt he should have stayed on the ground — and Brig Owens made his second interception of the night.

Six plays later, Billy Kilmer hit Larry Brown with a 17-yard touchdown pass to trim the Pittsburgh lead to 21-16.

Washington got the ball with five minutes remaining, and a pass interference call against safety Glen Edwards gave the Redskins a first down on the Steeler 17.

Kilmer then tossed a pass to Brown, who was hit hard by safety Mike Wagner. The ball popped out of Brown's hands, and into the arms of Edwards.

Edwards fumbled when he was hit on the same play, but Greene came up with the ball on the Steeler seven, and Pittsburgh ran out the clock for its 13th straight regular season win at home.

"I thought we were going to pull it out," said Redskin Coach George Allen, his voice cracking. "Larry had the ball in one hand, but was intercepted."

"Defense and the big plays on offense," Noll said in analyzing the victory.

The loss dropped the Redskins, 5-3, into a tie with Dallas for first place in the National Conference Eastern Division. The Steelers, now 7-1, hold a 2½-game lead over Cleveland in the AFC Central.

Alabama Closes Gap On Ohio State In Football Poll

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Runner-up Alabama has narrowed the gap on No. 1-ranked Ohio State in what seems to have become — for the time being, anyway — a two-team chase for college football's national championship.

The Buckeyes of Ohio State blanked Illinois 30-0 Saturday and received 35 first-place votes and 1,146 points from the 62 sports writers and broadcasters who participated in this week's Associated Press poll.

Alabama also posted a shutout, 35-0 over Mississippi State, and earned 14 first-place ballots and 1,096 points. Last week, the difference was 1,148-1,052.

There was no change among the next five teams, either — Oklahoma, Michigan, Notre Dame, Penn State and Louisiana State.

Oklahoma defeated Iowa State 34-17 and polled seven No. 1 votes and 910 points. Michigan, a 49-13 winner over Indiana, received one top vote and 888 points.

Notre Dame pulled down one first-place vote — its first of the season — and 746 points for a 44-7 trouncing of Navy while the four remaining No. 1 ballots and 714 points went to Penn State, which beat Maryland 42-22.

Louisiana State received 580 points for a 51-14 rout of Mississippi. Previously unbeaten Arizona State's 36-31 loss to Utah dropped the Sun Devils from eighth place to 14th, enabling Southern California and UCLA to move up. Southern Cal rose from ninth to eighth by walloping California 50-14 while UCLA climbed from 10th to ninth with a 62-13 drubbing of Washington.

Missouri, which dropped out of the

Battered Bengals Practice

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Battered and beaten in two straight games, the Cincinnati Bengals resumed practice today, gearing up for their meeting with running back O. J. Simpson of the Bills at Buffalo this Sunday.

"We'll have a tough old go next Sunday" said Bengals Coach Paul Brown.

"Everyone in Buffalo is trying to help O. J. break that record."

Simpson, who has compiled 1,104 yards running this season, is aiming at the all-time record set by Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns in 1963 with 1,863 yards.

But Simpson was held to only 79 yards in the 13-0 loss to the New Orleans Saints.

Cincinnati was downed 38-10 by the Dallas Cowboys Sunday and lost to the Steelers at Pittsburgh the week before, dropping to a 4-4 record.

Ailing Bengals include running backs Charles "Boobie" Clark, who has a sprained knee and Essex Johnson, who has head bruises. Also, defensive back Lemar Parrish has a bruised shoulder, receiver Isaac Curtis has a strained back and receivers Chip Myers and Bruce Coslet reported pulled muscles.

Miami Dolphins See Little Suiting Up

MIAMI (AP) — Coaches of the Miami Dolphins said Monday they are still expecting injured offensive guard Larry Little to suit up for this weekend's National Football League game with Baltimore in the Orange Bowl.

Little, one of three players hurt in Sunday's 24-14 victory over the New York Jets, said Monday, "I couldn't get out of bed this morning."

Atlanta Falcons Turnaround Triumph For Van Brocklin

ATLANTA (AP) — The passing arm of a freckle-faced quarterback and the perseverance of a coach who refused to buckle under outside pressure are two ingredients that explain the dramatic turnaround of the Atlanta Falcons as they race for National Football League playoff berth.

The Falcons, holders of a four-game winning streak whose victims are the Bears, Chargers, 49ers and Rams, experience the first glimmer of their resurgence in Bob Lee.

Lee replaced veteran quarterback Dick Shiner and saw some action in the Falcons' Oct. 7 loss to San Francisco. It was at a time when critics and stadium sign painters were demanding Coach Norm Van Brocklin's ouster.

What had started out as a football town filled with contender fever was turning into a caldron of malcontents carrying signs reading "No more Dutch treats" and "Fire Van Brocklin."

Before the 13-9 loss to San Francisco that Sunday, owner Rankin Smith said he had no intention of firing Van Brocklin. It turned out to be a Sunday of hope.

"Since that time we've just persevered and hung in there," the Dutchman said. "If you just stay with people, eventually things will work out."

Perserverance has paid off in the string of four victories. The last win came Sunday on the toe of an Italian-born placekicker of Hungarian extraction, Nick Mike-Mayer.

Mike-Mayer booted five field goals to bring the Falcons from a 10-0 first quarter deficit to a 15-13 victory. His game-winning kick came with 52 seconds left from 16 yards out.

The win lifted the Falcons to within one game of National Conference West-leading Rams, who held a three-game lead two weeks before suffering losses to Minnesota and Sunday's defeat to Atlanta.

Meanwhile, Lee has hit on 67 of 109 passes for 972 yards and five touchdowns while suffering three interceptions.

Hayes Keeping Mum About Any Injuries

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Buckeyes Coach Woody Hayes says he'll keep mum this week about any team injuries in retaliation to closed football practices by Michigan State.

The Spartans announced they would practice in secret this week, apparently to stop speculation that player injuries have severely weakened their chances against the top-rated Buckeyes here next Saturday, a team spokesman said Monday.

Mason May Retain Quarterback

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— First year University of Cincinnati football Coach Tony Mason says he's "no miracle worker" but he is the boss.

Mason, whose team is now 4-4 following the 52-3 route of North Texas State here told a boosters club luncheon Monday he is brushing aside player criticism over his use of a freshman quarterback in the last three games.

Top Ten a week ago, moved back in with a 31-7 triumph over Kansas State that lifted the Tigers from 12th to 10th.

The Second Ten consisted of Nebraska, Texas Tech, Texas, Arizona State, Houston, Tennessee, Miami of Ohio, Kansas, Kent State and Pitt.

Kent State and Pitt made the Top Twenty for the first time. Kent defeated Marshall 35-3 for its seventh victory in eight games while 5-2-1 Pitt downed Syracuse 28-14.

Last week's Second Ten was composed of Tennessee, Missouri, Nebraska, Tulane, Texas Tech, Miami, Colorado and Houston, with Auburn and Texas tied for 19th.

Tulane dropped out after losing to Kentucky 34-7, Colorado bowed to Nebraska 28-16 and Auburn was edged by Florida 12-8.

The Top Twenty, with firstplace votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1.

1. Ohio State (35)	7-0-0	1,146
2. Alabama (14)	8-0-0	1,096
3. Oklahoma (7)	6-0-1	910
4. Michigan (1)	8-0-0	888
5. Notre Dame (1)	7-0-0	746
6. Penn State (4)	8-0-0	714
7. Louisiana State	8-0-0	580
8. So. California	6-1-1	450
9. UCLA	7-1-0	431
10. Missouri	7-1-0	352
11. Nebraska	6-1-1	310
12. Texas Tech	7-1-0	133
13. Texas	5-2-0	129
14. Arizona State	8-0-0	126
15. Houston	7-1-0	112
16. Tennessee	7-1-0	80
17. Miami, Ohio	8-0-0	75
18. Kansas	5-2-1	15
19. Kent State	7-1-0	14
20. Pitt	5-2-1	13

Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Arizona, Auburn, Colorado, Memphis State, North Carolina State, Oklahoma State, Stanford, Tulane.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1973

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Good fortune early and good mature judgment. Later there is apt to be some confusion bringing some wrong information. Avoid making a critical comment that is harmful to you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Don't permit others to throw cold water on your ideas, plans, as you are highly inspired. Take treatments to make you more dynamic, charming.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Organize to advance some plan in a m. Assist those who are in trouble. Evening is ideal for the romantic side of life.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Organize your personal wishes and take steps to gain them. Get into some group meeting that can help your career. Be discriminating.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have the right answers to problems now, so put them in action. Make sure you get the information you need. Avoid a troublemaker.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get needed advice early in the day then carry through with certainty. Avoid social gatherings where little is accomplished. Steer clear of a cheapskate.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Follow every regulation that applies to you and you can then accomplish a great deal. Avoid a troublemaking group. Safeguard your good reputation.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Before making new plans, be sure they are practical, or you could lose much. Be discriminating with new contacts. Don't let anyone discourage you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Start early to get work done; don't run off on some tangent. Don't push your work off on a co-worker. Evening is fine for the social.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Morning is best for recreation since annoyances could arise later. More effort of a creative nature is necessary if you are to succeed. Get your ideas operating satisfactorily.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Run your home as you would your business and all goes more happily. Forget criticizing and use reason instead. Pay bills to avoid worry, further expense.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are thinking cleverly and can improve conditions. Showing associates how much you appreciate them brings fine response. Avoid one who is two-faced.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Cut down on expenses and make better investments for greater prosperity soon. Don't commit yourself to something beyond your knowledge. Do some worthwhile reading tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those young people with a fine mind who will require the best college education possible since the talents here are numerous and the life can be complicated accordingly. This child is a product of the New Era and the most modern schools are best. Provide a good home and give cultural advantages early. A fine physical specimen, also.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — You stand a better chance of drawing a royal flush in poker than seeing a lady sportscaster on television. But as all clockwatchers know, the times are a-changing. Minutely, though.

Only a few women currently cover sports for television, among them Barbara Borin at WNAC in Boston and Jeannie Morris, who sportscasts for WMAQ in Chicago. But now you can add Ruth Walsh to the list. She was hired last month by KOMO-TV in Seattle, Wash., and assigned the sports beat there. She also was assigned a sportscasting slot on the station's hour-long morning news program.

The 30-year-old native of Bennettsville, S.C., had broadcast news experience in other cities but says she didn't have the sports beat in mind when she first applied at KOMO for a job.

"I came up to the station to audition for a regular news assignment, general assignment reporting," she said.

However, she added, she thinks station officials "probably had an idea before I came that they perhaps wanted to use a woman as a sports reporter or a sportscaster."

Did she have a specialized background in sports reporting?

"Let's put it this way," she said. "I probably had as much knowledge of sports as anyone who was raised in a very sports-oriented family, which I was."

But, she conceded, "there are a lot of technical things that I don't understand. But I'm learning, and in a way it's one of the ways we're approaching the (morning) show."

"We realize that we're reaching more of a female audience at that time ... so we're learning together," she said, referring to the show's audience.

"A lot of our interviews are on what makes a sport happen, not just the fact that there'll be a football game, but also what does 'line of scrimmage' mean, or 'what is a touchback'?"

"Just basic things, but things that a lot of people who would watch in the morning may not know."

KOMO's woman sportscaster says she expected some static from male sports reporters, traditionally a crusty breed that screams bloody murder whenever a woman enters the press box.

"But I've gotten nothing but cooperation and help," she said, adding: "I've really been lucky. Everybody up here said, 'We're willing to give you a chance.'"

"I think they appreciated the fact that I did have a basic knowledge of sports and wasn't trying to pretend that I was something I wasn't. If I don't know something about a sport, I'll ask about it and I think they appreciate that, too."

Glaucoma Screening Clinic Maps Plans

The committee planning the Glaucoma Screening clinic met at the Lutheran Parish House, recently.

Present wre: Scott Donaldson, representing the Ohio Society for the Prevention of Blindness, Dr. N. K. Parikh, Dr. David Goldschmidt, Dr. David Smith, Wanda Matesky, RN, Sue Lewis, RN, Linda Dunkle representing Berger Hospital, Vera Saunders, chairman of the planning committee, and Twyla Lorentz, director of the Pickaway Senior Center which is sponsoring the clinic.

The date set for the Glaucoma Screening is Sunday, November 11, from 1 to 5 p.m. in the Lutheran Parish House.

All Pickaway County area residents age 35 or over are encouraged to come and take this free and painless test, which takes about 3 minutes. All testing will be done by professional doctors and assisted by registered nurses. Other qualified volunteers will take care of registration etc.

In addition to the testing for Glaucoma, visual acuity will also be tested (sharpness of vision). There will also be a 10 minute movie about Glaucoma for those who wish to see it and learn more about this disease.

Glaucoma is the second leading cause of blindness in people over age 35. Blindness cannot be cured, but if the presence of the disease is detected early enough, it can be treated and controlled and vision is saved. People younger than 35 who have a family history of glaucoma would also benefit from being tested.

Any persons who are found to have a tendency toward glaucoma will be advised to consult their own eye doctor.

Man Is Acquitted In Mercy Killing

FREEHOLD, N.J. (AP) — "The only crime Lester is guilty of was having his power to reason overwhelmed by events," Lester Zygmanski's attorney told a Superior Court jury before it acquitted the young man of slaying his paralyzed brother.

The jury of seven men and five women deliberated 2½ hours on Tuesday before acquitting Zygmanski, 23, on grounds of temporary insanity. He had been charged with first degree murder.

Zygmanski admitted killing his 26-year-old brother, George, with a shotgun blast last June as he lay in a hospital bed, paralyzed from the neck down as the result of a motorcycle accident.

The shooting was described by friends and relatives as a mercy killing.

In his closing arguments, defense attorney Robert Ansell pleaded with the jury to release Lester "not on pity, not on sympathy, but on the evidence."

Ansell said Lester was "crazed with love" for his brother when he shot him — "The only crime Lester is guilty of was having his power to reason overwhelmed by events."

Malcolm Carton, First Asst. Monmouth County Prosecutor, told the jury that the state had proved premeditated murder, and he asked the jurors to "do what's right ... do what's honest.... There is nothing in New Jersey law that says you can take the law into your own hands."

In his testimony, Lester admitted carrying a concealed sawed-off shotgun into the hospital and shooting his brother in the head.

"I walked over and asked him if he was in pain," Lester told the jury. "He nodded he was. I asked, 'A lot of pain, George?' He nodded again.

"I went to him and I said, 'Well, I'm here today to end your pain. Is that all right with you?' He nodded yes, and the next I knew I had shot him."

Fluoridation Vote Held In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Cincinnatians vote today on whether to fluoridate city drinking water and finally push the city into compliance with state law.

The referendum could put the lid on a two-year-old legal impasse on the question.

Opponents of fluoridation say the issue will be defeated just like it was in referendums in 1952 and 1960.

And even if it passes, they hint at further efforts to stop it.

Fluoridation supporters, however, predict the referendum will pass by a close vote. Even if it doesn't, they say Ohio's First District Court of Appeals ultimately will uphold the constitutionality of a 1969 mandatory state fluoridation law.

The issue has been stalemated since 1971 between the state law and a Hamilton County Court ruling that found the law invalid and enjoined Cincinnati from following it.

Last April the City Council endorsed fluoridation and a petition drive began to get the question on today's ballot.

In August the state Environmental Protection Agency ordered the city to fluoridate its waters.

Ptl. Jirles Resigns From City Police

Circleville Chief of Police Robert Temple has announced the resignation of Ptl. Larry Jirles from the department effective today.

This leaves the department four officers short of the authorized strength, according to Chief Temple.

Court Releases October Report

Naomi Houghton has released a report for the month of October for Circleville Municipal Court.

Total for fines, costs and bond forfeitures was $16,158.94. Of this amount the city of Circleville will receive $9,374.29, and Pickaway County, $2,847. Total due to the treasurer of the state is $3,656.25. Sheriff of Pickaway County will receive $57.90 with other disbursements totaling $223.50.

Criminal cases filed numbered 624 with 587 cases finished. The number of cases in which all or part of the fines and costs were suspended was 33 while the amount of fines and costs suspended totalled $950.

Twenty-eight civil cases were filed with 17 cases concluded. One marriage was performed with the total due to the city for civil cases and marriages $230.93.

The number of small claims filed was 23. Fifteen cases were finished leaving the amount due to the city at $74.65.

Faulty Furnace Causes Fire

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Lawrence Holt investigated a house fire 6:35 p.m. Monday at the Charles W. Warner residence, Circleville-Commercial Point Road.

The Scioto Township Fire Department was on the scene to extinguish the fire which was contained to the basement.

A faulty furnace was the cause of the fire.

Tapes Battle Back In Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Judge John J. Sirica today ordered that Rose Mary Woods, President Nixon's personal secretary, be summoned to testify in the fact-finding hearing into the two phantom White House tape recordings.

Sirica, chief U.S. District Court judge, asked that Miss Woods be notified that she would be a witness after presidential aide Stephen V. Bull testified he saw her listening to tapes and typing at the same time.

"I would deduce it did have obviously something to do with the tapes," Bull said but added he did not know whether the secretary was making a transcript.

Bull testified that on Sept. 28 he was asked by Gen. Alexander Haig Jr., the President's chief of staff, to go to Camp David, Md., to assist the President in reviewing some tape recordings that had been subpoenaed by the special Watergate prosecution force.

Bull said he received about a dozen tapes and returned four or five of them to Gen. John Bennett, a Haig assistant, and left the rest with Miss Woods.

"She kept them at least a week," he said.

"Do you know what happened to the tapes?" asked Richard Ben-Veniste, a Watergate prosecution force lawyer.

A. No sir.

Q. Would you say the purpose is to make a transcript?

A. I could not confirm that sir.

Bull apparently was the first to make an unsuccessful search for the tape recordings of two key conversations in the Watergate investigation.

The Watergate prosecution force now is under the direction of Leon Jaworski.

The White House says the conversations of June 20, 1972, between President Nixon and John N. Mitchell and of April 15, 1973, between the President and John W. Dean III went unrecorded. The two tapes were among nine sought by prosecutors.

As Jaworski took his oath as special prosecutor Monday, Acting Atty. Gen. Robert H. Bork told a House Judiciary subcommittee Jaworski has White House assurance of freedom to go to court for evidence.

"Everybody agreed to it," Bork testified. He said White House chief of staff Alexander M. Haig Jr., and lawyers J. Fred Buzhardt and Leonard Garment were at the meeting.

Jaworski succeeds Archibald Cox who was fired for refusing to go along with a presidential order to seek no further White House tapes or documents.

He was sworn in by Judge Byron

Skelton of the U.S. Court of Claims, a fellow Texan and long-time friend. Jaworski called the oath "more important than any I have taken in my lifetime."

Afterward he met for 30 minutes with the 80-man staff he takes over from Cox and said he knew of no reasons for any personnel changes. He said he had accepted "an awesome and gigantic task," and that he considered it a call to duty.

Cox told a House subcommittee that he believes Jaworski will run into the same conflict with the President that he did — and said that is why Congress should make the prosecutor independent.

Glaucoma Screening Clinic Maps Plans

The committee planning the Glaucoma Screening clinic met at the Lutheran Parish House, recently.

Present wre: Scott Donaldson, representing the Ohio Society for the Prevention of Blindness, Dr. N. K. Parikh, Dr. David Goldschmidt, Dr. David Smith, Wanda Matesky, RN, Sue Lewis, RN, Linda Dunkle representing Berger Hospital, Vera Saunders, chairman of the planning committee, and Twyla Lorentz, director of the Pickaway Senior Center which is sponsoring the clinic.

The date set for the Glaucoma Screening is Sunday, November 11, from 1 to 5 p.m. in the Lutheran Parish House.

All Pickaway County area residents age 35 or over are encouraged to come and take this free and painless test, which takes about 3 minutes. All testing will be done by professional doctors and assisted by registered nurses. Other qualified volunteers will take care of registration etc.

In addition to the testing for Glaucoma, visual acuity will also be tested (sharpness of vision). There will also be a 10 minute movie about Glaucoma for those who wish to see it and learn more about this disease.

Glaucoma is the second leading cause of blindness in people over age 35. Blindness cannot be cured, but if the presence of the disease is detected early enough, it can be treated and controlled and vision is saved. People younger than 35 who have a family history of glaucoma would also benefit from being tested.

Any persons who are found to have a tendency toward glaucoma will be advised to consult their own eye doctor.
